The Education of a Bolshevik.

Beyond the fact that M. Lenin still exists, hardly anything is known about his activities. This remarkable man, however, has learned many things during the last four years, and his whole mode of thought seems to have undergone a drastic change. According to a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian who was in Tiflis recently, Lenin has addressed a notable communication to the Communists of Armenia, Azerbaijan, Daghestan, Georgia, and that most obscure of all nations, the Mountain Republic. These five little States constitute the Caucasian Soviet Republics, and Lenin's Note to their leaders contains some very sound advice. He appeals, in the first place, for close union among them, and urges them, in moulding their future destinies, to be guided by Russia's mistakes. The Caucasian Republics, he says, are in a very different position from that of Soviet Russia, and the tactics which he and his colleagues adopted in their struggle against civilisation must be modified judiciously to cope with changed and still changing conditions. Russia was forced to fight a lone hand; her army now is at the disposal of the new States. Armenia, Georgia, and the rest have nothing to fear from foreign invasion or subsidised counter-revolutions. Their battles have been fought for them and now they must begin their work of constructive Socialism in earnest. "The first breach in the world's capitalism," says Lenin, "has been made. That breach is open. . . You have only to utilise the new and favourable international situation. . . Do not copy our tactics, but independently weigh the causes, consequences, peculiar conditions, and results."

Up to this point the old Lenin—a little wiser, perhaps, but still the Bolshevik par excellence—has been speaking. Now the new statesman unburdens his mind. "Let there be more mildness, more considerateness, and more conciliation towards the petty bourgeoisie, the intelligentsia, and particularly the peasantry." Saul is now among the prophets with a vengeance. You must utilise the capitalism of the West, he tells the infant States, by a policy of concession and unrestricted trade. You must develop the resources of your countries by every means in your power. Do not hesitate to sell your goods to America, Italy, and the other "capitalist" States. Otherwise you never will succeed in improving the lot of the workers and peasants, and economic reconstruction will be impossible. "A slower and more cautious and systematic transition to Socialism is possible and necessary for the Caucasian Republics," declares the sea-green incorruptible of the Kremlin, thus damning the policy which he and his henchmen have been pursuing for four blood-drenched years. Lenin has learned from grim experience that economic laws are more powerful than Marxian theories, and Russia's agony has branded the lesson on his mind. He realises now that "war" against the "capitalist" system is futile. A tree may be felled, but it cannot be built up again. In a word, revolution is of no avail. For Russia repentance comes too late. She has been ruined beyond hope of recovery for the next fifty years, and all the piety and wit of her disillusionised leaders cannot re-write the awful story of her sacrifice to a crazy dream. The Caucasian Republics, however, still may be saved; and, perhaps, their salvation will appease the angry conscience of Russia's betrayer.

Lenin's advice to the Caucasian Communists should be taken to heart by his admirers throughout the world. In Britain even now there are men whose one aim seems to be the destruction of the whole social system as a prelude to a repetition of Lenin's ill-starred experiment. Agitators pour their insidious doctrines into the ear of the working man. They lose no opportunity of setting class against class and goad the workers on to disastrous strikes. Fortunately, the average Briton does not need Lenin to tell him that a "bloody revolution" is a mistake. Nevertheless, the Bolshevist agents have been doing a very great deal of harm in these islands, and there is no doubt that their mischievous influence has been the chief cause of the long coal stoppage. The settlement, which, we are glad to say, seems now to be certain, should teach them, as events in Russia have taught their august master, that sanity is beginning to reassert itself in the world and that there is no room any longer for their feather-brained ideas. For nearly three years men and women throughout Europe, and, to a certain extent, in America, too, have been playing with the Bolshevist illusion. They have refused to be deterred by the pitiable example of Russia and have turned a deaf ear to reason, scorning every rational argument as "capitalist propaganda." It is high time now that they should get back to work and face the facts of life again. A long and tedious struggle awaits the people of Europe, and, if they ever are to regain what has been lost since 1914, a stupendous effort must be made. Germany is showing the way already. She has had her fill of Bolshevism and is concentrating all her brains and energies on the capture of commercial supremacy. In view of Lenin's conversion to common-sense views, will even the British Bolsheviks hesitate to follow her lead?

A Costly Failure.

America's ambition to possess a great mercantile marine has been fulfilled; but neither the Government nor the taxpayer is pleased. They dreamt of ships that would ply the seven seas and capture the world's carrying trade, and, instead, they have got some hundreds of vessels rusting in their harbours. According to Mr. Albert Lasker, who has just assumed his new duties as Chief of the United States Shipping Board, the country's shipping business is "the most colossal commercial wreck the world has ever seen, and the financial backing of the Government alone prevents it from being the greatest bankruptcy ever recorded." Claims amounting to £65,000,000 have been lodged with the Board, and its monthly working deficit is estimated at nearly £4,000,000. The publication of these figures has opened the floodgates of criticism in the New York Press. It is pointed out that, if the losses continue on this scale for a year, the total will almost balance the amount spent by the Board on construction, and will equal fifty per cent. of the interest on the Allies' debt to America. As is usual in cases of this kind, the critics have not been long in finding a scapegoat. The Emergency Fleet Corporation, once the object of universal praise, is the target for every lance. It is asserted that the Corporation squandered money recklessly and bought heavily at a time when the market had reached the "peak" of inflation. There may have been extravagance, but not on the scale alleged. For a long time the Corporation's main business was not to count the cost, but to get ships at any price. Its vast building programme could not be brought to an end on the day when hostilities ceased, and the only point that the critics can make justly is that it should have been curtailed, instead of expanded, when the danger was passed. The correct view is that a considerable part of the loss which the American taxpayer must face is a contribution towards the cost of the war, and, as such, it should be borne without a grumble. Mr. Lasker intends to scrap the wooden ships and to sell as many as possible of the steel vessels to private owners. He does not take an optimistic view of the outlook; but he believes that, in the course of time, the American mercantile marine will be a profitable undertaking. British shipowners never have taken the threat of intensive competition from America too seriously. They knew the circumstances in which the American tonnage was trebled and predicted a financial crash. Without the Government subsidy an American owner could not afford to run his vessels to-day, and subsidies cannot be paid for an indefinite period. As we pointed out last week, the strength of British companies lies in their knowledge and experience of the business and in the efficiency of their service. Under normal conditions the Americans could not hope to defeat them in a freight war. The average American steamer is not so well built as the average British steamer; and the Government of the United States has decreed that every vessel which sails under its flag must have a larger and more expensive crew than British owners regard as necessary.

The Horse Show.

Every sensible Irishman will be glad to learn that the Markets Committee of the Dublin Corporation has settled its differences with the Royal Dublin Society. The Committee had threatened to boycott the Society, and in other ways to obstruct its national work, unless certain alleged grievances were satisfied. We pointed out last week that any blow to the Society would be a blow to Irish progress and prosperity and that the recent reforms had made the Society's constitution absolutely democratic. The terms of the settlement are not published, but the statement which has been signed by Mr. Bohane and Mr. Paul informs us that the causes of friction have been removed. The Markets Committee, we may assume, has withdrawn its boycott; for Mr. Paul now foresees no obstacle to the holding of this year's Horse Show or to the co-operation of the farmers' unions and other agricultural bodies. We hope that North and South will unite to make the Show a great success, thus proving to the world that sport and our staple industry still furnish a bond of common interest and of good-fellowship between all classes of Irishmen. Perhaps, Mr. de Valera and his colleagues, now engaged in momentous counsel, will not be too Olympian to think of the effect of their decision on the prospects of the coming Horse Show. If the London Conference is held and brings settlement to Ireland, the Horse Show will be a bigger thing than any of its predecessors. It will be a national Peace Festival—the brilliant and joyful celebration of the beginning of a new epoch in Irish history.

Famine in China.

Although the famine in Northern China was a dreadful calamity, the loss of life was not so great as had been anticipated. This result is due to the magnificent work of the international relief committees. They concentrated their efforts on the task of providing the minimum of food that would preserve life over a maximum of area. The Peking Correspondent of The Times supplies figures which show the magnitude of the problem. At the end of last March the committees were supporting a multitude far larger than the whole population of Ireland. They fed five-and-a-half millions of people at a total cost of nearly £3,000,000. The American Red Cross played an important part in this work of rescue, and the Chinese Government gave some help by means of surtaxes on railway, telegraph, postal, and other rates. The relief took the form of grain, which was doled out to families registered as destitute. The famine workers were too busy to be able to compile statistics, but it is known that in some districts people died at the rate of 10,000 a month. In similar circumstances in any other country the mortality would have been still more terrible; but these Chinese peasants showed truly astonishing powers of resistance to hunger and disease. The scanty rations of grain kept the five-and-a-half millions just alive throughout the winter. Now North China, like Northern Europe, is hoping anxiously for rain, in order that the summer and autumn crops may help it to renew in less desperate conditions the grim struggle for existence.

THE IRISH SOLICITOR-GENERAL.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. T. W. Brown took the oath and his seat after his re-election for North Down, on his appointment as Irish Solicitor-General.

PRIVY COUNCIL AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

The King held a Privy Council at Buckingham Palace yesterday. Mr. Meighen, Canadian Premier, was sworn in.

KINGSTOWN COUNCIL AND GAS CONSUMERS' GRIEVANCES.

At the meeting of the Kingstown Urban Council, held on 21st inst., the following resolution, proposed by the Chairman, Mr. Devitt, and seconded by Mr. F. Middleton Beatty, M.A., was carried unanimously:—"That this Council desires to express its strong approval of the movement on foot to protect the interests of gas consumers in the area supplied by the Alliance and Dublin Consumers' Gas Company, on the ground that the system and methods of supply employed by that company are highly unsatisfactory, and call for a thorough investigation. This Council, therefore, resolves to associate itself with the Gas Consumers' Protection Committee, and offers every assistance within its powers to that Committee's praiseworthy efforts to secure redress for the unquestionable grievances of the consumers."

A deputation, consisting of Mr. C. C. Riddall and Mrs. Palmer, Honorary Secretary, Gas Consumers' Protection Committee, 5 Leinster street, was received, and the several causes of dissatisfaction on the part of consumers were placed before the Council.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

Nothing has yet been heard of an answer to the Prime Minister's invitation to the Irish leaders, but there is a feeling in political circles that both Sir James Craig and Mr. de Valera will accept as soon as they have consulted their advisers. It is not unreasonable to expect that their decision will take a few days to make definite. Much importance is attached here to the plain fact that the offer is not hampered with any conditions. In such circumstances, people are of opinion that it can scarcely be rejected. Rejection would certainly have a very bad effect on the Sinn Fein cause in the United States, and possibly would divert a great deal of sympathy.

Suggestions are being made that, if the conference does take place, it might be held at Buckingham Palace, where the great Irish Conference was held in the summer of 1914. It is generally assumed, however, that it will take place in Downing street under the roof of the Prime Minister. A better place, perhaps, would be the country home of the Prime Minister, Chequers, where complete detachment is possible, and the conference could meet in peace and quietude apart from political currents and back-wash.

The general feeling among members of Parliament is favourable to the Prime Minister's invitation to Mr. de Valera and the Prime Minister of Ulster. It is felt that, in the circumstances, the step, though open to question from some points of view, is one that ought to be taken from the chance of good that it seems to offer. Admittedly, however, its value can only be judged by results, and here comes in the question whether Mr. de Valera has authority enough with the physical force party to pledge them to any understanding. The Ulster Unionist members now in town raise no objection to the invitation. They recall that Sir James Craig has already met Mr. de Valera, though without result. They recall also that Mr. Lloyd George has repeatedly offered to discuss Ireland's future with any person competent to speak on behalf of the majority in the South. Finally, they say that they are content to leave the interests of loyal Ulster in the hands of Sir James Craig, confident that he will not let them down.

The announcement that Sir James Campbell had retired from the Lord Chancellorship of Ireland, to be succeeded by Sir John Ross, did not come quite as a surprise, since a rumour in that direction was heard about a fortnight ago. There are whispers to the effect that the change has something to do with differences between the Chief Secretary and Sir James Campbell as to some features of the Government's Irish policy, but I have been unable to obtain any authoritative confirmation of this story.

The coal strike situation may be regarded as hopeful, for the Miners' Executive appear to have dropped the political side of the question, and there is no longer talk of a pool. Eighty-eight days have now passed since the strike began, and, although many attempts have been made to bring about a settlement, few have presented such a promising outlook as the present. It is thought in some quarters that the Government may again offer the ten million bonus to the miners. In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Godfrey Locker-Lampson, one of the organisers of the "Anti-Waste" Party, asked if the House would be given an opportunity of deciding whether the offer should be renewed or not. Mr. Chamberlain expressed the hope that the House would not insist upon a preliminary discussion which would tie the hands of the negotiators, and promised, if a subsidy should be thought necessary to smooth the way to a settlement, to bring the matter before the House next Friday.

The promised Bill for the reform of the Second Chamber received its quietus from Mr. Chamberlain, so far as this session is concerned. He stated that it would probably be the Government's main legislative proposal next session. This statement provoked a good deal of chaff, and Mr. Bottomley wanted to know if it would provide for Ministers sitting in either House of Parliament and if members might have hopes of welcoming back the Lord Chancellor. But Mr. Chamberlain thought it would be wiser not to mention the Government's proposals piecemeal.

Mr. T. W. Brown, the new Solicitor-General for Ireland, took his seat to-day after being re-elected. He was introduced by the Chief Secretary and the Attorney-General, and a very stalwart trio they looked as they marched up to the table. Mr. D. M. Wilson, who has retired from the Solicitor-Generalship on his appointment to the Recordership of Belfast, was not much in evidence in the House itself. But in the larger area known as "behind the Speaker's chair," he will be much missed, for, in addition to the usual qualifications for office, he had an immense fund of Irish stories upon which he drew with unfailing geniality.

In the report stage of the Unemployment Insurance Bill the most important amendment was one moved by Mr. Clynes, who sought to include within the scope of those entitled to benefits workmen thrown out of employment as a result of a dispute to which they were not a party. This, obviously, raised a very big question, and Dr. Macnamara was unable to accept it. The difficulty, he said, was to find a middle line which was equitable, and that difficulty so far had not been overcome on this occasion. Lord Robert Cecil stood up for Labour, and his intervention brought forth a cheer from the benches behind him. The amendment on the division was negatived by 144 to 104, the comparatively narrow margin bringing some solace to the Labour members for their defeat.

The King and Queen of the Belgians are to pay a State visit to the City of London next Tuesday, and to mark the occasion the Lord Mayor and Corporation make an appeal that has not been heard since the war. The people along the line of route are asked to decorate their premises in honour of the heroic King and Queen. It is certain that there will be a general response to this appeal, though it is most unlikely that there will be anything of the elaborate character common before the war. Still a display of bunting and window draperies will go far to brighten the rather dull line of houses between Buckingham Palace and the Guildhall.

The Prince of Wales when he goes to India in the autumn is to go as representative of the King, and not as Heir Apparent. This is a distinction with a very big difference, for it gives the Prince a very important position. He will receive the Indian Princes as an equal, and acts of homage will be paid to him that would otherwise be omitted. The expenses of the journey will be rather greater, since the Prince, as representing the King, will have to give presents on a more important scale than he would as Prince.

A meeting of the Supreme Council is to take place in Boulogne about the middle of next month, but the date depends largely upon developments in the Middle East. The Prime Minister by the date fixed will be in possession of the ideas of the Overseas Premiers on the questions at issue, and he will, therefore, be in a much stronger position to discuss, and help to decide upon, some important matters which are to be included in the agenda.

THE KING AND THE POLO CUP.

The King yesterday presented the International Polo Cup to the members of the victorious American polo team. While congratulating the Americans on their victory, he did not conceal his hope that the verdict would be reversed on some future occasion.

IRISH INTERMEDIATE EDUCATION GRANT.

DISTRIBUTION RATES.

The new rules for the distribution of an interim grant of £50,000 in respect of the year 1920-21 for supplementing the salaries of Intermediate teachers in Ireland were issued yesterday as a White Paper. They are:—

1. The interim grant of £50,000 in respect of the year 1920-21 for Intermediate teachers in Ireland, hereinafter called "the grant," shall, save to the extent mentioned in Rule 5 following, be allocated between Intermediate schools, and paid, in the first instance, to the managers thereof as a capitation payment, on the same basis as was actually adopted under the rules dated 11th August, 1919—i.e., the distribution of that portion of the additional grant of £50,000 for the purpose of Intermediate education in Ireland in 1920-21 which was payable by capitation, save that Rule 7 of those rules shall not apply.

DISTRIBUTION.

2. The share of the grant so allocated to any Intermediate school, hereinafter referred to as the "school share," shall be distributed by the manager between the several eligible registered teachers employed in that school during the whole or part of the year beginning 1st August, 1920, hereafter called the "school year," including any eligible registered teacher who is owner or headmaster of the school, in the following manner:—

(a) The school share shall be divided into such numbers of equal parts as may be necessary for the purpose of these rules.

(b) Every eligible registered teacher in the school, as aforesaid, shall receive a number of parts of the school share, determined according to paragraphs c, d, and e following, with reference to his total annual rate of remuneration from the school, exclusive of the value of any board or lodging provided, or both, and of any sum which he may have received out of the school share of the interim grant paid in respect of the year 1919-20, but inclusive of any bonus or extra pay in respect of his service as a teacher in the school year.

(c) The number of parts to be assigned to each eligible registered teacher shall be determined according to the following scale:—Total annual rate of remuneration not exceeding £120, four parts; exceeding £120, but not exceeding £160, five parts; £160, but not exceeding £220, six parts; £220, but not exceeding £300, seven parts; £300, eight parts. For the purposes of this paragraph the total annual rate of remuneration of an owner or headmaster shall be deemed to exceed £300 per annum.

(d) Where an eligible registered teacher has been employed in an Intermediate school for only a portion of the school year the number of parts to be assigned to him shall be proportionately reduced, so as to be one-fortieth of the number as reckoned under paragraph C for every complete week of his employment in the school during the school year, but so that no credit shall be given for service in the school amounting to less than thirteen complete weeks in the school year.

(e) Where an eligible registered teacher has been employed simultaneously in more than one Intermediate school for the whole or part of the school year, the number of parts to be assigned to him out of each school share in which he is entitled to participate shall be ascertained by dividing the number of parts to which, according to his remuneration solely from such school, he would be entitled under the foregoing paragraphs by the number of schools in which he has been so employed; provided that any teacher may elect to have his service in any school or schools disregarded for the purpose of these rules, on giving notice to that effect in the statement to be furnished by him, in accordance with Rule 3, to the manager of every school in which he has been employed during the school year.

PARTICULARS OF SERVICES.

3. The manager of every school to which a portion of the grant is allocated shall obtain from every registered teacher who has been employed in the school for the whole or any part of the school year a written statement giving such particulars of the teacher's services in other schools during the school year as may be necessary for the purpose of these rules, and every registered teacher, on receipt of a written request from the manager of any school in which he has been employed during the school year to furnish the said particulars, shall comply with such request within three days. Every teacher who receives a payment of grant in accordance with these rules shall furnish to the manager, by whom payment is made, a receipt therefor, in such form as may be prescribed by the Intermediate Education Board. The manager of every school to which a portion of the grant is allocated shall transmit to the Intermediate Education Board, not later than the 30th September, 1921, receipts in the said form covering the whole of the school share, and shall also furnish such information, if any, as may be required of him by the Board in relation to the distribution of the grant.

PENALTIES.

4. Any teacher who, without proper cause, fails in any respect in the discharge of the duties imposed on him by these rules shall be liable to be refused recognition by the Intermediate Education Board for the purpose of any future distribution of additional grant. Any manager who, without proper cause, fails in any respect in the discharge of the duties imposed on him by these rules shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in Rule 9 of the rules dated 11th August, 1919, aforesaid.

5. There shall be paid out of the grant to the Intermediate Education Board the sum of £200 as a contribution towards the expenses incurred by the Board in the discharge of the additional duties imposed on them by these rules.

DEFINITIONS.

6. The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply for the purpose of the interpretation of these rules, as it applies for the purpose of the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

The expression "registered teacher" in these rules shall mean any person whose name has been placed on the Register of Intermediate School Teachers in Ireland, framed under the Intermediate Education (Ireland) Act, 1914, on or before the 31st December, 1920.

The expression "eligible registered teachers" in these rules shall mean a registered teacher who is normally engaged in teaching in one or more schools, for not less than fifteen hours a week in the aggregate; classes subject to inspection by the Inspectors of the Intermediate Education Board, provided that any owner or headmaster of a school who is a registered teacher shall be regarded as an eligible registered teacher.

7. In any case of doubt or difficulty as to the construction of these rules, or as to any claim, right, or liability thereunder, the Intermediate Education Board or any teacher or manager of any school eligible to participate in the interim grant may appeal to the Lord Lieutenant, whose decision shall be final.

ROYAL IRISH ACADEMY.

MR. JOHN MACNEILL RESTORED TO MEMBERSHIP.

A general meeting of the Royal Irish Academy was held at the Academy House, Dawson street, Dublin, yesterday afternoon, Professor Sydney Young, D.Sc., F.R.S., President, presiding. The paper contributed was entitled "Crom Cruaich of Magh Sleacht," and was read by the author, Mr. John P. Dalton, M.A.

The Academy afterwards proceeded to private business.

It was subsequently learned that at the private meeting the President suggested that there should be no controversy which might be injurious to the Academy, and he hoped that it might be possible to carry out any action without discussion. He then read the following resolution, which was proposed by Count Plunkett:—

"That any and every resolution, or other act of or within the Academy, passed during or after the month of June, 1916, and terminating the membership therein of John MacNeill, be, and hereby is, rescinded."

Count Plunkett said that he moved the resolution to restore a distinguished scholar and member of the Academy, and it should be passed without discussion.

Mr. E. H. Alton, F.T.C.D., seconded the motion, which was passed.

The proceedings then concluded.

Mr. John MacNeill, who was reinstated yesterday in his membership of the Royal Irish Academy, is one of the four members returned for the National University of Ireland at the recent elections to the Southern Parliament. Mr. E. H. Alton, who seconded the motion for Mr. MacNeill's reinstatement, was returned at the same elections as one of the four members for the University of Dublin.

AEROPLANE FALLS INTO GALWAY BAY.

Telegraphing yesterday our Galway Correspondent says:—Whilst circling at a low altitude near H.M. destroyer Urchin in Galway Bay this afternoon an aeroplane from the Oranmore Aerodrome crashed head foremost into nearly three fathoms of water, pinning Lieutenant Fleming, the pilot, and Corporal Bond, the observer, underneath. The pilot, who was cut about the head and knees, managed to extricate himself, and by herculean efforts clambered with his observer to the tail of the aeroplane, which had remained above water. The observer, who was under water for a considerable time, had become unconscious, but the pilot dragged him with him. A boat immediately put out from the destroyer, and took both men to the naval base at the harbour, where they were met by four members of the R.I.C., who had witnessed the aeroplane dropping into the water beyond the lighthouse, and rushed to the docks immediately. The police tried artificial respiration upon Corporal Bond, and obtained the services of Dr. Michael McDonogh. After three-quarters of an hour animation was restored, and the corporal was taken to St. Bride's Home, where he is now progressing well. Lieutenant Fleming was taken to Renmore Military Hospital.

THE ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY.

CONFERENCE WITH MARKETS COMMITTEE.

A FRIENDLY SETTLEMENT.

The following statement was issued yesterday for publication:—

"Representatives from the Markets Committee and the Royal Dublin Society have to-day met in conference at the Mansion House, by invitation of the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, and after a lengthened consideration of the differences which arose in connection with several incidents associated with the past work of the Society, we have pleasure in announcing that an amicable understanding has been arrived at which will facilitate the holding of this year's Horse Show, and enable the various agricultural bodies to participate in same. The terms of agreement have yet to be ratified, but in the meantime we appeal with confidence to all Irishmen to support the Society in its endeavour to make its work more popular and progressive."

The statement is signed by Mr. William Paul, Chairman, Markets Committee, Dublin Corporation, and Mr. Edward Bohane, Agricultural Superintendent, Royal Dublin Society.

IMPORTATION OF STORE CATTLE.

THE AMERICAN MEAT TRUST.

The operations of the American Meat "Trust" were discussed at yesterday's sitting of the Royal Commission on the Importation of Store Cattle, during the cross-examination of Mr. J. B. Guild, of the Royal Statistical and Economic Society, by the Hon. Evan Charteris, K.C., representing the interests favouring the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle.

Counsel suggested that the importation of 200,000 Canadian cattle could not affect the interests of small holders any more than cattle from Ireland.

Witness said that he did not agree, and he added that his suggestion was that the Canadian cattle would be "dumped" here. Pressed by counsel on the suggestion of "dumping" by Canada, and ordinary economic trading by Ireland, witness replied that figures proved that Ireland's supply varied in accordance with demand, whereas Canada's supply would be erratic; it would be surplus stock governed by economic factors quite outside the United Kingdom.

Mr. Charteris—You have, in effect, a duty against Canadian cattle in this country of £14, and in spite of that it would pay to "dump" cattle? I do not say it would pay.

Then what is the object? The object is to give the "Trust" a much more efficient weapon than they ever had for getting this country entirely under their control. There would be a loss of confidence among the breeders, and the ulterior motive of the Meat "Trust" to monopolise the prices of cattle in order to get control.

Lord Askwith—Do you think that the steamships would be in the "Trust," and assist in this "dumping"? I could not tell.

Is your knowledge of "Trusts" anything more than a sort of fear of a ghost? Not necessarily. I have studied the operations of "Trusts."

Mr. Charteris—Can you, then, say why the "Trusts" should not operate with the stores coming from a part of the United Kingdom, as well as with stores coming from a part of the Empire?

The witness did not answer, and Mr. Charteris added: "Very well, we will leave this matter."

MR. W. P. NEIL.

Mr. W. P. Neil, Chairman of the Cattle Markets Committee of the City Corporation, London, gave evidence in support of the removal of the embargo, and stated that the risks of supplies to this country suddenly cut off by international complications was an argument in favour of taking every possible means of increasing the live cattle in this country without delay. He did not consider that there was any force in the argument that English farmers would cease to breed if the embargo was raised. "The Ministry of Agriculture," concluded witness, "apprehend no great point of danger arising from infection, seeing that I am to-day going to Derby to attend the Royal Show in a county in which infection exists, and at which show the most valuable animals in the world will be assembled."

In cross-examination, Mr. Neil said that in favouring the removal of the embargo he was going against his personal interests as a farmer, but he occupied such a public position that he felt that it was his duty. His one point was to make this country safe from attack by the "Trusts." He regarded the arrival of Canadian fat cattle in this country at the moment as part and parcel of the operations of the Meat "Trusts."

Witness added, in reply to further questions, that he was of the opinion that home-produced meat could never keep pace with the population of the United Kingdom.

The Commission adjourned until to-day.

DUBLIN ROTARY CLUB.

INTERNATIONAL PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Crawford McCullough, Fortwilliam, Ontario, President International Association Rotary Clubs, was the principal guest at the weekly luncheon of the Dublin Rotary Club at Kidd's Restaurant, Nassau street, yesterday. Acknowledging a cordial reception he referred with pleasure to his experiences at the Rotary Convention at Edinburgh, and remarked that if friendship was taken out of the arch of Rotary the keystone would be removed and the fabric would collapse. If Rotary meant anything, after friendship was formed, it meant action and not mere resolution; it meant deeds done without ostentation and without self-glorification. The gospel of Rotary was work, and its creed was action. Rotary with its one thousand clubs was no longer an experiment, but was a sociological factor that had to be taken into account. It was being judged not by its professions but by its accomplishments. Its survival value would be expressed exactly in terms of the thousands of tasks done daily by its members in the affairs of business and on behalf of their city and nation. He believed that the policy of consolidating their forces in Ireland among two clubs, one in Dublin and the other in Belfast, was the right policy until a settled time of peace came upon the country. There was nothing more earnestly desired among the peoples of the world than Irish peace. If there was anything dearer to them across the seas than the interests of their own country it was the dawning of the day of peace in beloved Ireland. (Applause.)

Mr. William Findlater, in conveying the thanks of the club to Mr. McCullough, expressed the hope that the good feeling which prevailed between the Dublin and Belfast Rotary Clubs would spread to larger spheres in national life.

Mr. W. A. McConnell also expressed thanks to the guest of the day.

RESTORATION OF ORDER ACT.

AN ARREST IN ENGLAND.

ORDER FOR INTERNMENT IN IRELAND.

HOME SECRETARY'S ACTION JUSTIFIED.

In a King's Bench Divisional Court, London, yesterday, the Lord Chief Justice, Justices Sankey and Shearman had before them for argument the rule obtained on behalf of Edward Mark Brady, aged 19 years, a shop assistant, of Wallasey, Cheshire, calling upon the Inspector of Cannon Row Police Station, Westminster, S.W., and the Home Secretary to show cause why Brady should not be released.

The Attorney-General, Sir Gordon Hewart, K.C., and Mr. Givern appeared for the Crown, and Mr. Holman Gregory, K.C.; Mr. [illegible], and Mr. J. David Caswell for Brady.

The Attorney-General said that the rule was obtained on the 22nd June, and the question raised was not an academic one, but one of importance. Brady was being detained for the purpose of being sent to Ireland for internment. The grounds upon which the rule was granted were three—viz., (1) that there was no lawful authority for the detention complained of; (2) that the order for detention was ultra vires and void and illegal; and (3) that the Restoration of Order (Ireland) Act, 1920, did not apply to a British subject resident in England.

The Attorney-General said that whatever happened, Brady would be put on his trial at Birkenhead with four other men, who were charged with cutting and damaging telegraph and telephone wires in the neighbourhood of Birkenhead, and would first come before the Justices there.

The Home Secretary had sworn an affidavit in the course of which he said that on the recommendation of a Competent Military Authority that it was expedient that Brady should be interned, he issued an order under the Restoration of Order in Ireland Act and Regulations, and Brady was now being detained pursuant to that order. It was grotesque to urge that, although the ingenuity of the man was concentrated against the restoration and maintenance of law and order in Ireland, because he was not geographically in that unfortunate country he could not be arrested and interned in Ireland.

Mr. Holman Gregory agreed that the matter was of more than academic importance. It was of grave importance. It raised a question whether the Home Secretary could make such orders for internment. He was doing it very often, and English people were being sent to Ireland and interned. His submission was that no person in England could be interned in such a way without standing his trial first. In his opinion the Restoration of Order in Ireland Act, 1920, applied solely and only to Ireland.

Mr. Caswell supported his learned leader's arguments, and said that the private rights of the British citizen were attacked by regulations only.

The Court discharged the rule with costs.

THE JUDGMENT

The Lord Chief Justice said that the case raised an important point, and he fully agreed with the arguments of counsel for the applicant that the Court must regard the liberty of the subject as of the first importance, and construe the Act and rules in favour of the liberty of the subject, but when he turned to the Act and to the rules he failed to follow the arguments that counsel presented to the Court. Counsel further said that the Secretary of State could not make the order under the Act. His lordship thought that that construction was erroneous. The Act seemed to his lordship to meet a danger, not only in Ireland, but in England also. He could see nothing in the regulations which suggested that Brady should be in Ireland. It was impossible to say that the regulations were ultra vires.

Justices Shearman and Sankey agreed.

HOUSING IN DUBLIN.

CORPORATION DISCUSSION.

PROPOSED SCHEME CRITICISED.

A special meeting of the Dublin Corporation was held yesterday afternoon in the Mansion House for the purpose of considering a report of the Housing Committee, submitting proposals for the erection of sixty houses on the Fairbrothers' Fields site, and recommending the acceptance of the tender of Messrs. H. and J. Martin for the building work. The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor presided.

A letter was read from the Dublin Building Trades Union asking the Corporation to receive a deputation to put their views before the meeting in connection with the materials to be used in connection with the Fairbrothers' Fields Housing Scheme.

It was decided that the deputation be heard.

Mr. W. Partland, on behalf of the deputation, expressed his pleasure at seeing the Lord Mayor back after his visit to America, and added that he thought he could say the same on behalf of all the workers in Dublin. (Hear, hear). Under the proposed contract the amount of money that would leave this country would be £11,000 or £12,000 out of a total of £60,000 for Fairbrothers' Fields. If frames and sashes were introduced from the other side the chances were that a number of Dublin workers would not work on these houses. They asked that the report be sent back to the Housing Committee to find out how much of the work had to be sent out of the country.

Mr. Irwin, another member of the deputation, said that they had been told at the inquiry in connection with the housing scheme that the houses could be built for £750 each, but when the matter was gone into it was found that the least they could be done for was about £1,000.

The Lord Mayor, in replying, referred to the exceptional difficulties existing at present, and said that within the past 48 hours one of the most useful members of the Corporation, Councillor Forrestal, had been taken away under arrest. Most of the present corporation were young men, but, with an experience of twelve or fourteen years, he could say that he had never met a body of men so anxious to do the right thing by the citizens and by the country generally as they were. If it was possible that this housing scheme could be carried out with nothing but Irish work and manufacture, they might take it that that would be carried out. The Dublin Corporation was at a tremendous disadvantage at the moment in dealing with the housing problem.

DUBLIN'S TENEMENT DWELLERS.

Mr. John J. Murphy moved the adoption of the report of the Housing Committee, submitting proposals for the erection of 60 houses on the Fairbrothers' Fields site. He urged that there was a very great necessity for economy. Everyone knew the conditions under which the poor of Dublin were living at present, and if any progress were to be made in coping with these conditions, some other means than those hitherto employed must be used to cope with them. The Committee had also come to the conclusion that if any change in the present conditions is to be brought about, it will have to be by new methods and a new system of building. On the north side of the city they were told that 41,000 persons, representing 12,000 families, were living in tenements, and he ventured to say that that total was increasing. The conditions on the south side of the city were no better. The sum that was being sent out of Dublin for material was less than £11,000. If they were to do anything in the way of house construction in the future someone must devise other means and other methods than those which had hitherto obtained.

It was correct that a certain amount of foreign material would have to be used, but if the manufacturers of this country realised that this class of building was going to be continued in use, he had no hesitation in saying that they were going to conform to the new ideas and methods, and that they would then have this material manufactured in Ireland. The floor space in the new houses would be more than was given under any previous scheme of the Housing Committee.

Mr. P. S. Doyle seconded the adoption of the report.

Mr. O'Flanagan thought that it was due to the deputation to say that the Corporation would be willing to receive any practical advice given to them on behalf of the trades.

HIGH INCIDENTAL CHARGES.

Alderman Hubbard Clark moved an amendment in favour of deleting certain concrete works which, he said, amounted to £500 on the contract. Each house would cost £1,050, plus roads and sewers, and that was an appalling figure.

Professor Shields seconded the amendment. He objected to extras, as the price was already too high.

Mr. Moran was in favour of having the report sent back to the Committee.

Sir Andrew Beattie said that the Corporation was losing £80,000 a year on their housing, and he would like to know if this scheme was going to add £2,000 or £3,000 more.

The amendment was rejected.

Sir Andrew Beattie then moved a further amendment that the report be sent back to the Committee for reconsideration, and suggesting the inclusion of full particulars as to cost of site, roads, etc.

Mr. Hynes seconded the amendment, which, after discussion, was rejected by 19 votes to 7.

A further amendment was moved by Mr. Hynes that the report be sent back to the Committee with instructions that Irish materials and Irish labour be used in the construction of the houses.

Mr. T. Farren seconded.

On a vote being taken it was ascertained that there were only seventeen members present, so that the meeting fell through without any result.

THE LIMERICK MARKETS BILL.

In the House of Commons yesterday the Lords' amendment to the Limerick Markets Bill was considered and agreed to.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

THE IRISH OLIVE BRANCH.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times writes, in reference to the Prime Minister's call to Sir James Craig and Mr. de Valera to a conference in London:—In judging the situation one important fact should be borne in mind. Though the letter of invitation is signed by the Prime Minister, the policy it represents is the policy of the Cabinet. A very strong minority of the Cabinet, including Mr. Churchill and the Lord Chancellor, favoured a similar policy a week ago. Their views were then overborne by the Prime Minister, and the Lord Chancellor's speech in the House of Lords on Tuesday represented the standpoint which the Prime Minister and his more militant colleagues then adopted. After the King's Speech at Belfast and the remarkable success of the Royal visit the scene swiftly changed. It was decided to issue the invitations to Sir James Craig and Mr. de Valera. A guarantee of stability in this latter attitude is believed to lie in the determination of some important Ministers to resign rather than assent to any further oscillation, tactical or otherwise. But, over and above this guarantee, stands the pledge implicit in the King's moving appeal to Ireland to forgive and forget. Those Irishmen who may not trust the Prime Minister may, it is thought, place some trust in the Cabinet, while those who trust neither the Prime Minister nor the Cabinet will not doubt the earnestness of the King's good-will. Already speculation advances beyond the possibility of Mr. de Valera's agreement to a conference to the questions that the conference will have to consider. Everybody knows, on the authority of the Irish Viceroy himself, that the Better Government of Ireland Act requires alteration. How and to what extent? Members of Parliament are privately addressing their minds to suggest answers to these questions. The purpose of the conference, they say, is to make a reconciliation with Southern Ireland. Mr. de Valera's "strong line"—assuming he comes to the conference—may be to say that Southern Ireland has just returned a verdict for an Irish Republic, and that he cannot presume to commit the country to acceptance of any other policy. But it is represented that if, on the one hand, the Government has any proposals worth making, and if, on the other hand, Sinn Fein has any mind for reconciliation, the Government will in the course of the discussions indicate the utmost limits of concession to the Nationalist opinion of the South and West. If the Sinn Feiners find in the proposed concessions the possibility of a settlement, they may suggest the submission of the terms to the people. It is assumed that the Government will make a firm offer, setting out a scheme in black and white, and that in the last resort not Ireland alone, but the English-speaking nations of the whole world, will be its judges.

AMERICA FOR ACCEPTANCE.

The New York Correspondent of The Times, in a message yesterday, says:—American comment on Mr. Lloyd George's letter to Mr. de Valera is very emphatic. It is that, if the Sinn Feiners refuse the invitation, they will lose the last shreds of American sympathy. The New York World, for instance, says:—"The complete futility of continuing the conflict from either point of view was never more apparent. If the Irish leaders set themselves to a policy of desperate resistance, the British Government promises to take military measures of a character to dwarf all previous proceedings in the island. As geography stands, England would rather have a hostile vassal than an independent and, possibly, hostile republic at her back door. Mr. de Valera would be wise to talk it over calmly with Sir James Craig in order that out of their meeting might come some compromise to spare Ireland further bloodshed." The New York Times says:—"Mr. de Valera has frequently said that he would listen to no overtures from the Prime Minister unless they were in writing. Now he has got them. Attentive Irishmen cannot fail to see how their cause has been injured and their hopes dashed in this country. The policy of ferocity in Ireland will get no aid or comfort from Americans, desirous though they are that the Irish be given control of their own affairs as the Canadians and Australians are—within the Empire." It adds:—"If Mr. de Valera refuses the invitation it will show that he is intimidated by the terrorists, and mean that the Irish rebellion has let loose numbers of reckless men who delight in cowardly bloodshed, and who are ready to cut the throat of any Irishman who should dare urge a peaceful settlement with England."

A COAL SETTLEMENT.

In a leading article, The Times remarks:—Yesterday evening the Coal Conference arrived at a provisional agreement as to the terms on which a resumption of work on Monday next shall be recommended. It was clearly understood that this agreement depended upon a definite arrangement with the Government on the question of a financial subvention. In other words, the miners' representatives make it a condition that the offer of a subsidy shall be renewed. That, as we have already implied, is a reasonable demand. Now that a settlement is in sight, no fair-minded man could, or would, desire to oppose it. It is an indispensable condition of temporary as well as of a permanent wage settlement. On the other hand, it is equally true, as we pointed out yesterday, that the renewal of the subsidy offer must be subject to the consent of Parliament. In this, as in all questions affecting the nation's finances, the representatives of the people alone have the right and the duty of deciding how the people's money shall be spent.

UPPER SILESIA.

GERMAN EVACUATION AGREED.

A Paris telegram, dated yesterday, says:—A telegram from Oppeln states that General Hoefer yesterday signed the agreement to evacuate the zone occupied by the Germans in Upper Silesia, in accordance with the scheme of the Inter-Allied Commission, which has already been accepted by the Polish insurgents. At the last moment General Hoefer raised various objections to the scheme, and was only induced to give way by the insistence of the Inter-Allied Commission.

Reuter's Agency learns that a telegram was received in London yesterday stating that the Poles and the Germans had signed an agreement to withdraw from the occupied areas in Upper Silesia. It is hoped that this agreement, which comes into operation at once, will mark a great advance in the direction of the solution of the question.

FIGHTING IN ASIA MINOR.

An Athens telegram, dated Sunday, states:—A communiqué of yesterday's date says that during a movement carried out by our troops in the Nicodemia region for strategic reasons, the enemy made an attack with considerable forces. Our small detachment for a time was in a critical position, but reinforcements came to the rescue, and the enemy was repulsed everywhere with heavy loss. We had two hundred men killed and wounded.

A telegram received in Paris from Constantinople, dated Sunday, states that the Greeks have been defeated at Adabazar, and were obliged to fall back on Ismidt. The Turks are now reported to have occupied Ismidt. A number of Allied nationals were rescued by a British warship.

STRIKE OF POLICE IN QUEBEC.

A Quebec telegram, dated Monday, states:—Since Saturday midnight the city has been without police and fire protection owing to a joint strike of firemen and policemen. The street lamps were smashed on Saturday evening, whilst yesterday boys entered several police stations and smashed windows and did other damage. Two hundred false fire alarms have been made. A battalion of militia is being held in readiness to quell possible disorders, and thirty-eight new policemen have been sworn in. The strikers are demanding an increase of a dollar and a half in their weekly wages.

NO "TWOS" IN SHOES.

ENGLISHWOMEN'S FEET GETTING BIGGER.

Are the feet of Englishwomen becoming larger?

In an appeal before the House of Lords this week it was suggested that the feet of Englishwomen were at least a size larger than those of their sisters in France.

Inquiries among London boot manufacturers tend to confirm this opinion.

"The feet of Englishwomen are undoubtedly growing larger," said one dealer to a Daily News representative yesterday.

Formerly the average shoe for a woman was a four—now it is a five. Some used to take a two. At present there is no demand for twos. Girls' sizes have increased correspondingly. Whereas they ranged from one to two, the average is from two to three.

"There can be little doubt that this development is due to sport. It cannot be said, however, that the feet of the modern Englishwoman are ungainly.

"Though they have increased in size, they have merely grown in proportion to general improved physique.

"Frenchwomen, however, are still taking Victorian sizes in footwear."

Another dealer declared that Englishwomen are taking more "sensible" sizes. They insist nowadays on having boots which fitted the feet. Frenchwomen, according to this authority, were inclined to sacrifice comfort for appearances.

RAILWAYS BILL.

COMMITTEE DISCUSSION.

AMALGAMATION TRIBUNAL.

The Standing Committee of the House of Commons, which is considering the Railways Bill, met again yesterday afternoon. The question under consideration was that constituting the Amalgamation Tribunal of the three persons named in the bill for the determination of the various schemes of amalgamation. There were several amendments for alterations of this tribunal in number and otherwise, and the point was definitely raised by an amendment proposed by Lieutenant-Colonel James.

Sir Eric Geddes appealed to the Committee to come to a decision on the point of policy at issue, which would decide the fate of a number of other amendments. The object of having the small tribunal proposed was to constitute an independent and judicial tribunal. If they were to add to it representatives of particular interests, such as users of railways, labour, and the public, they could not exclude the representatives of the railways as well. That would bring them to the point of having a sort of conciliation board instead of a judicial tribunal.

Mr. Royce thought that the tribunal could be enlarged without diminishing its judicial character.

Sir Frederick Banbury said that he would support an amendment to add the President of the Railway and Canal Commission to the tribunal, because that would add to its judicial character instead of detracting from it, as the President was a High Court Judge.

After Mr. Neal, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry, had resisted the amendment, a division was taken. It was rejected by 22 votes to 18, and the tribunal of three remained.

After this several other amendments on the matter were ruled out, and additions to the bill were adopted, providing for the giving of public notice of the date when and the place where the tribunal would sit, and also ensuring that all who were interested in any way should have an opportunity of being present on such occasions.

Two amendments proposed as alternatives to the Government proposals for appeals were rejected, and the Committee adjourned until this morning.

THE VICEROY.

Lord FitzAlan, who since his appointment as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, has been troubled with phlebitis, underwent a slight operation in London yesterday. The operating surgeons were Mr. Seccombe Hett, F.R.C.S., and Mr. E. D. Barrows, M.D. A bulletin issued afterwards by Dr. Munier Williams, the Viceroy's medical adviser, states that the operation was entirely successful. The Lord Lieutenant will, however, be confined to his room for a fortnight.

AMERICAN ROTARIANS VISIT MARCONI HOUSE.

American delegates to the International Rotary Convention, now being held in London, paid a visit to Marconi House, Strand, yesterday, to listen to a special programme of wireless telephony which was transmitted with a low-power set from Chelmsford. An exhibition of films showing some of the activities of the Marconi Company was also given to the visitors in the company's private cinema.

CHINESE "BOX AND COX" STORY.

SOME EXAMPLES OF SUBTLE ORIENTAL HUMOUR.

In China the bald-headed man is always nicknamed "Mr. Shining Bright." It is a piece of Chinese humour, a subject upon which the Rev. W. H. Rees entertained an audience at the School of Oriental Studies recently.

One of his comic samples was the story of John and Li, who were both suffering from over-sleepiness, and decided to consult one another on the subject. But when Li went to see John, John was asleep, and, being too courteous to wake him, Li returned to his bed to slumber.

Then John woke up and went to Li, but found him asleep, and he, being equally courteous, returned to his bed to sleep until Li woke. Subsequently Li rose from his bed and went again to John, but John was still sleeping. So Li went back to bed. Whilst asleep there John again rose and went to Li, but, finding him asleep again, went out of the house, and Li, waking later to go to John, found him gone.

So the puzzle is to know when these two sleepy heads will get their difficulties solved. It is obviously a Chinese puzzle!

THE ART OF EVASION.

The story about the young tiger who met a monk and refused to chew up the book that was thrown at him because, as the monk explained to his mother, "it was a subscription book," might have been an Occidental story, and not from the East at all.

Mr. Rees had a dialogue with a Chinese wag, thus:—

What is your name? The same as my father.

What was his name? The same as my son.

And the son's name? Same as his grandfather.

Your grandfather's name? Same as his grandson.

And so on, but the name remained unrevealed.

A PARABLE ON RICHES.

Students of Sociology should be interested in this bit of Chinese wit. It is the parable of 1,000 ounces of silver.

Said the owner to his poor friend: "Why don't you pay me respect? I have 1,000 ounces of silver." Said the poor man: "You have your 1,000, but it has nothing to do with me."

Owner: "If I give you 500 ounces will you respect me then?"

Poor Man: "No, for then we shall be equals."

Owner: "If I give you it all will you pay me respect then?"

Poor Man: "Rather should I do otherwise, for then you will have none, and I shall have the 1,000 ounces."

ALTERNATIVE TO TEA.

Women may appreciate this sidelight on a domestic difficulty.

A Chinese hostess had no tea-leaves in the house, and sent her maid to get some from a neighbour. She got the water hot in the pan, and it boiled and boiled, but no tea was forthcoming, so the hostess called her husband aside and whispered:

"This guest is not likely to have any tea to-day. 'Won't you ask her to have a bath?'"

ENGLAND'S MORAL LAXITY.

THE DANGERS OF MATERIALISM.

"Democracy," said Bishop Welldon, Dean of Durham, in an interview, "is to-day on its trial. In England, as in the United States of America, it has been for many years practically accepted as the ultimate solution of the social and political problems, but to-day the world is asking: 'Can democracy maintain order, and can it preserve morals?'

"To-day it is the laxity in which men hold the sanction of the Christian faith that is responsible for the danger of moral decline in the community. Materialism is lifting its head against spirituality, and materialism means worship of wealth or force. It looks to those gains or profits which can be weighed in the material balances. One element in the industrial discord of the day is that all classes have come to such an excessive value on material goods. They have forgotten the supreme value of the soul as Christianity has taught it, and the result is that they fix their eyes and their thoughts upon money, pleasure, and advance in social estimation, and they forget that a man's life 'consisteth not in the abundance of the things he possesseth.' Yet the German worship of organised brute force, with its evil consequences, might well have shamed the nations into a more spiritual conception of life.

"There are signs of a moral relapse even in England to-day. What is to be said of the revival of the prize ring? Of the re-introduction of pigeon-shooting, with living birds as victims? What is to be said of the threatened institution of the most abominable of all pretended sports—bull-fighting—in France? Is it not a strange satire on human progress that while gambling has assumed, since peace, proportions unknown before, and the national drink bill has been more than doubled, it is found impossible to maintain hospitals by voluntary contributions?

"A London hospital has, within the last month, been compelled to close 200 of its beds. Westminster Abbey, the holy of holies of the Empire, cannot raise money enough to prevent its stones from crumbling into decay. The sympathy of class with class has given place to a warfare that is carried on without regard to the sufferings which it entails upon innocent victims.

"The only remedy is a return to the moral law of Jesus Christ. There cannot be a Christian society which is not founded upon the Christian faith. It is in the name of democracy, and in the name of the British Empire—the greatest human institution on earth—that I plead for a strong, earnest, manly self-denial. The times are so critical that as the miners, when they return to the collieries, may find their services are hardly needed, for the use of coal has been supplemented by the use of oil or electricity. So Englishmen and women in the fashionable world, when at last they realise—and they may have realised too late—what the honour and safety of the Empire demand, may find that the Empire itself will have gone down before its rivals, who were more formidable in peace than in war."

COAL SITUATION.

THE CONFERENCE RESUMED.

AN UNDERSTANDING EXPECTED.

THE TEN MILLION GRANT.

The Prime Minister presided at the Conference between the coal-owners and the Miners' Executive at the Board of Trade yesterday, with the object of negotiating a wage agreement which the Miners' Executive could recommend their members to accept. The Premier was accompanied by Sir Robert Horne, Mr. Austen Chamberlain, and Dr. Macnamara, and officials of the interested departments were present. The Miners' Executive met at Russel Square before the Conference.

It is understood that Mr. Lloyd George, addressing the Conference, expressed the desire that the two sides should get to business at once, and this invitation was responded to with so much alacrity that the prospects were all in favour of an ultimate understanding.

At two o'clock the Conference adjourned for luncheon, and at three o'clock the position was regarded as hopeful.

In an interview, Mr. T. Richards, South Wales, said—"We are still talking over the position. So far there has been little more than an exchange of views."

The ten million pounds grant had been mentioned, he said, but the Government had not intimated definitely that it would be restored. There could be no hope of a settlement unless they got the ten millions.

OWNERS MAKE CONCESSIONS.

The Press Association states that the coal Conference adjourned last evening until 10 p.m. for the purpose of meeting the Prime Minister to ascertain definitely the position in regard to the Government grant.

Very great progress has been made. The owners have offered improved terms, and a settlement now depends upon the ten millions being forthcoming.

The joint Conference of the Colliery Owners' and Miners' Executive at the Board of Trade proceeded without interruption from three o'clock until 8.45, when there was an adjournment until ten p.m. for the interview with Mr. Lloyd George.

At the adjournment several of the miners' leaders said that the position could at last be described as definitely hopeful, and there was every prospect that an agreement would be reached if an assurance was forthcoming from the Government that the ten millions would still be available.

Mr. W. Straker said that the owners had offered improved terms, and everything depended on whether the Government would renew the offer of the grant. On that depended whether they would recommend the men to accept the terms and resume work.

The Press Association understands that, as the result of the discussion yesterday between representatives of the Mining Association and the Miners' Federation a provisional agreement has been arrived at on terms on which a resumption of work on Monday next shall be recommended, subject to agreement with the Government on the question of a financial subvention for the industry.

The Coal Conference adjourned till this morning at 11 o'clock. No agreement had been reached in regard to the Government grant, the Prime Minister intimating that he must consult his colleagues in the Cabinet, and will give a reply in the morning.

The Press Association understands that one of the concessions which the owners have made is in regard to the allocation of profits, which it is expected will have the effect of extending the temporary settlement to six months or more, and of easing the wage-cut over a much longer period if Government help is forthcoming. The initial reductions may be maintained for three months, at from 2s. to 3s. 6d. per shift. The owners, it is stated, would not entertain a proposal that there should be a further increase of their previous offer of 20 per cent. advance on the 1914 standard wage. They intimated that in regard to the standard minimum they had gone as far as they could possibly go. The whole discussion was on wages, and no question of the pool was raised. The proposed agreement was drafted for presentation to the Prime Minister at an interview later in the evening on the question of Government aid.

The Prime Minister and Sir Robert Horne arrived at the Board of Trade to meet the miners a few minutes after 10 o'clock. It was confirmed later by several members of the Miners' Executive that the owners had not advanced the 20 per cent. increase on the 1914 rates.

THE GOVERNMENT SUBSIDY.

Mr. Godfrey Locker-Lampson asked the Leader of the House of Commons yesterday whether he would give the House an opportunity of deciding the question of paying a subsidy to the miners out of public funds before any pledge was given outside the House. (Cheers.)

Mr. Chamberlain—I cannot at present say whether the Conferences that were resumed this morning will lead to anything, but if it should appear that the terms of a permanent settlement have been reached between the owners and the miners, and that the only obstacle to an immediate resumption of work is the impossibility of carrying out the necessary reductions without some assistance from the public funds, I hope the House will not think it necessary so to fetter the discretion of the negotiators as to make the prolongation of the struggle unavoidable. In the case of such assistance becoming necessary, I will bring the matter before the House at the earliest possible moment. I beg the House to remember that I am being asked a purely hypothetical question, and there is a good deal of difficulty and some danger in answering hypothetical questions of this kind in relation to the results of negotiations which have only just begun. If the contingency arose in the course of this week I should propose to bring the matter before the House on Friday next.

Colonel Ashley—Will the agricultural labourers receive the same treatment?

Mr. Jones—Why not.

Mr. Wilson Fox—Will the Government consider carefully the manner in which any assistance is to be given, and will they take pains to limit the amount of the assistance to the smallest possible amount?

Mr. William Thorne—You think that you have them on their bellies, and want to keep them down.

Mr. Lawson—It is not quite finished yet.

Mr. John Jones—You are being subsidised all the time.

STATEMENT IN THE COMMONS.

In the House of Commons last night, Mr. Arthur Henderson asked what progress had been made in the negotiations with reference to the coal dispute.

Mr. Shortt replied that undoubtedly progress had been made. (Cheers.) The matter was at present under discussion, and it was impossible to say more at present. He hoped that they might be able to make a statement on the subject shortly.

GERMAN COAL FOR ENGLAND.

Mr. Bridgeman stated, in reply to Mr. Gilbert, that the quantities of coal imported into this country from abroad since April 1st were approximately as follow:—From the United States 335,000 tons, from France 430,000 tons, from Belgium 495,000 tons. Of the coal imported from France and Belgium 160,000 tons were known to have been of German origin.

TURKS REFUSE TO RELEASE BRITISH PRISONERS.

Reuter's Agency learns that a most unsatisfactory telegram has been received from the Angora Government, amounting to a complete repudiation of the agreement with regard to the release of prisoners signed by Bekir Sami Bey during the last London Conference. Not only do the Nationalists repudiate their agreement, but they refuse to release the British prisoners, in spite of the fact that the Turkish political prisoners were released from Malta, pursuant to the agreement unless other prisoners charged with the most serious crimes are also set at liberty.

On the other hand, an intimation has been received that Adalia, which had been forbidden to British ships, has now been re-opened for them.

MR. P. J. KELLY RELEASED.

Mr. P. J. Kelly, of Liverpool, President of the Irish Self-Determination League of Great Britain, who was detained by the police in London on Saturday, was allowed to leave Scotland Yard yesterday afternoon.

RECONSTITUTION OF THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

Mr. Chamberlain, in reply to Sir Frederick Hall, who asked when the Government proposed to introduce legislation to provide for the reconstitution of the House of Lords, said that it was impossible to deal with a matter of such magnitude in the present session, but the Government hoped to submit their proposals next session.

Mr. Bottomley asked if the Government had arranged that in the new representation of the House of Lords Ministers would be allowed to sit in either House, and whether, therefore, they might look forward to seeing the Lord Chancellor in the House of Commons?

Mr. Chamberlain—I cannot disclose the proposals of the Government beforehand.

Colonel Ashley asked if the House of Lords was the first item in the Government's programme for next year.

Mr. Chamberlain—As far as I can forecast the programme of the future session, it will be our main legislative proposal.

THE PARLIAMENT OF SOUTHERN IRELAND.

TO-DAY'S OPENING CEREMONY.

THE FORM OF SUMMONS.

According to the official intimation issued from Dublin Castle on Saturday last, the Parliament of Southern Ireland will hold its first meeting in the Council Room of the Department of Agriculture, Upper Merrion street, Dublin, at 3 o'clock to-day. The Parliament consists of 128 members elected to the Lower House and 64 members of the Senate. Of the latter 3 are ex-officio, 17 nominated, and the remainder elected to represent various sections of the population.

It is generally understood that the great majority of the Lower House, being members of the Sinn Fein Party, will refuse to attend. The four members for Dublin University will, it is believed, be present. What representation of those who comprise the Senate will attend is not known. Neither the Roman Catholic bishops nor the County Councils have elected any representatives. The 17 representatives of commerce, Labour, and the learned professions, who were to have been nominated by the Viceroy, have, it is understood, been selected, but so far their names have not been published. They have, we understand, been informed of their nomination, and intimation has been sent to them of the inauguration ceremony to-day. All ex-officio and nominated Senators received this intimation, but no others.

A BRIEF PROCEDURE.

To-day's proceedings will, it is believed, occupy only a very brief period—not more than half an hour. The Lords Justices (representing the Lord Lieutenant) will take their seats in the Council Room at 3 o'clock. In the event of 50 per cent. of the elected representatives failing to present themselves to take the oath, the Parliament will be unable to function. As this is what is likely to happen, the Lords Justices will probably declare the proceedings at an end, and report the fact to the proper quarter.

SETTING THE HOUSE IN ORDER.

Yesterday there was a certain amount of activity at the Department of Agriculture. Workmen were busy in the Council Room, setting up a dais and a desk for the convenience of the Lords Justices and other important officials.

When an Irish Times representative called at the Department yesterday he found it impossible to get any details as to the accommodation to be provided for members or others wishing to attend. The corridor leading to the Council Chamber was barred by a barbed wire arrangement, behind which there was a soldier carrying a rifle. The officer in charge of the military courteously, but firmly, declined to allow any but those actually engaged on the work to enter.

FORM OF SUMMONS TO EX-OFFICIO AND NOMINATED SENATORS.

The following is the form of summons issued to the ex-officio and nominated Senators; a copy of it has been received by the Lord Mayor of Dublin:—

"George the Fifth, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, to our trusty and well-beloved the Lord Mayor of Dublin—Greeting. Whereas, for certain arduous and urgent affairs, our Lieutenant-General and General Governor of Ireland has ordered a Parliament of Southern Ireland to be holden at the City of Dublin on the 28th day of June next ensuing: We command you that, the weightiness of the said affairs considered, you be, at the said day and place, personally present with others, the Senators of the Southern Parliament, to treat, and give your counsel, upon the affairs aforesaid.

"Witness, our Lieutenant-General and General Governor of Ireland, at Dublin, the 25th day of June, in the twelfth year of our reign.

"GERALD HORAN,

"Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper.

"To the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of Dublin.

"A writ of summons to the Parliament of Southern Ireland."

LORD CHANCELLORSHIP OF IRELAND.

A SUDDEN APPOINTMENT.

SIR JOHN ROSS SUCCEEDS SIR JAMES CAMPBELL.

Dublin Castle announced officially last night—

"At a meeting of the Privy Council held this afternoon in the Council Chamber, Dublin Castle, the Right Hon. Sir John Ross, Bart., was sworn in as Lord Chancellor of Ireland in succession to the Right Hon. Sir James Henry Mussen Campbell, Bart. The appointment was made by Warrant under the Royal Sign Manual and Letters Patent under the Great Seal of Ireland which, under Section 44 of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, now passes to the custody of the Lord Lieutenant."

The news of the retirement of Sir James H. Campbell, Bart., from the Chancellorship, and of the appointment of his successor, came as something of a surprise to the public. Several weeks ago there was a rumour that Sir James Campbell was about to retire, but this was promptly contradicted by Sir James himself. Since then nothing further had been heard until the news became known yesterday.

At the Four Courts yesterday the members of the Bar were surprised more perhaps by the suddenness of the announcement than by the actual fact. To some extent the change interfered with yesterday's proceedings in the Courts. The Court of Appeal had a few cases in its list for the day, and barristers and litigants, with their solicitors, were waiting some time for the Court to sit. At length the Registrar appeared, and announced that the Court would not sit on that day. Then the news spread quickly that Sir James Campbell had bidden farewell to the officials, and that, having spent a little while in his Chamber, he had left the building in which his early struggles at the Bar were fought, and in which subsequently he achieved many triumphs as a brilliant advocate.

THE NEW LORD CHANCELLOR.

The Right Hon. John Ross, Bart., K.C., was born in 1854. He is the second son of the late Rev. Dr. Ross, of Londonderry, and he received his early education at Foyle College. In Trinity College, Dublin, which he entered later, he had a career of much distinction. He was first Classical Scholar in 1876, was elected President of the Philosophical Society in the same year, and Auditor of the Historical Society in the following year. In 1879 he was called to the Bar, and in 1891 he took silk. In 1892 he was elected member of Parliament as a Unionist for the City of Derry, and represented that city until 1895, when, on the death of Mr. Justice Monroe, he was appointed Judge of the Land Court. It is a striking testimony to the able and impartial manner in which he decided cases coming before him that rarely was an appeal taken from his judgment, and in no case has his decision been reversed. He had one-fifth of the whole of Ireland under his control when appointed. He has now cleared out the whole business of it, and the department will, it is understood, be wound up, thus effecting a considerable saving of public money. Sir John is at the moment the Senior Judge in the United Kingdom.

THE EX-LORD CHANCELLOR.

Sir James Campbell, who now retires from the Chancellorship, was born in the City of Dublin in the year 1851. He is the third son of the late Mr. William Mussen Campbell, of Prospect House, Terenure. He was educated at Kingstown School, and subsequently passed through Trinity College, where he was a Classical Scholar, Senior Moderator and Gold Medallist in Classics, History, Law, and Political Economy. He was also Auditor and Gold Medallist in Oratory of the College Historical Society. In later years when he had won distinction at the Bar he served his Alma Mater as one of her representatives in the Imperial Parliament, being for most of the time the colleague of Sir Edward (now Lord) Carson. In the year 1901 Sir James was appointed Solicitor-General for Ireland, holding that office until 1905. Later he was Attorney-General, but only for a short period. In 1916 he again took up the office of Attorney-General, and in that year also was elected to the Bench as Lord Chief Justice of Ireland. The culmination of his career was reached in June, 1918, when he was appointed Lord Chancellor of Ireland.

MAYO GIRL KIDNAPPED.

ON JOURNEY TO DUBLIN.

At Green street Courthouse, yesterday, the Sub-Sheriff (Dr. Lorcan Sherlock) and a jury sat to assess damages in the case of Gipsey v. Geaney. The action was brought for the seduction of the plaintiff's daughter. The parties reside at Shrule, County Mayo.

When the case was called,

Mr. Fitzgerald Kenny (instructed by Mr. J. J. Smith), for the plaintiff, said that he was unable to go on, as his solicitor had received a letter stating that the girl had been kidnapped on her way to Dublin.

The Sub-Sheriff, in discharging the jury, said that it was shocking that there should be any interference with the efforts of a poor girl to obtain justice.

MARSHAL FOCH TO VISIT AMERICA.

A telegram from Reuter's Paris Correspondent says:—In response to an invitation from the American Legion, Marshal Foch is going to the United States early in October. His visit will probably last for two months.

THE PREMIER'S PEACE EFFORT.

NO REPLY FROM MR. DE VALERA.

On inquiry at 10 Downing street last night the Press was informed that as yet no reply has been received from Mr. de Valera to the Premier's invitation to a conference on the Irish situation.

DAIL EIREANN'S STATEMENT.

The Press Association adds:—The belief is growing in Dublin that the invitation will be accepted. The situation is regarded hopefully.

Though nothing is known in the Parliamentary Lobby as to the probable nature of Mr. de Valera's reply, feeling is very hopeful of ultimate acceptance, and of a peaceful issue to the negotiations which may be set on foot.

There is no foundation, says the Press Association, for the rumours of differences of opinion in the Cabinet on the subject of the letter to the Sinn Fein leader, the invitation and the terms in which it was conveyed having been unanimously approved by Ministers.

The Irish Bulletin yesterday issued the following:—"President de Valera has received the British Premier's letter. A reply will be sent in due course."

A MOST IMPORTANT STEP.

A Paris telegram states that the Avenir, commenting upon Mr. Lloyd George's letter to Mr. de Valera, says:—It is a most important step, and wisdom commands that Mr. de Valera should accept the invitation which has been sent him.

AMERICAN COMMENT.

AN APPEAL TO IRISH REASON.

Reuter's Correspondent in New York telegraphed yesterday:—Commenting on Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to Mr. de Valera to a conference in London, the newspapers characterise it as a noteworthy step towards the settlement of the Irish question.

The New York Times says—It is patent that there can be no lasting settlement except by consultation and agreement, and there can be no charge of feebleness against the British Government, which, at the same moment that it appeals to Irish reason, is taking steps to deal with Irish madness and murder. The newspaper adds that some motives for the acceptance of Mr. Lloyd George's invitation on the part of de Valera may arise out of the current developments in the United States. The American Federation of Labour, it says, has rejected the fantastic proposal to boycott British goods, which was put forward by Irish sympathisers, and in other ways has shown itself hostile to the attempted domination by imperious Irish-Americans. Much more important is the extraordinary display of sentiment in all parts of the land in support of Admiral Sims in the matter of his officially indiscreet, but individually powerful, castigation of the schemes and methods of Sinn Feiners in America. In this there is the plainest sort of warning for all Irishmen who are still able to read the signs of the times. The policy of ferocity in Ireland will get no aid or comfort from Americans, desirous though they are that the Irish should be given control of their own affairs, as the Canadians and Australians, inside the Empire.

The World states that Mr. de Valera will be wise to talk it over calmly with Mr. Lloyd George and Sir James Craig, so that out of their meeting may come some compromise that will spare Ireland further bloodshed.

MILITARY ACTIVITY IN DUBLIN.

Crown forces were active in various parts of Dublin yesterday, and travellers in tramcars and on foot were stopped and searched. On Sunday night four men were arrested at O'Sullivan's Restaurant, in Tara street. The restaurant was then searched, and again yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, when the Crown forces paid a return visit.

THE GRAFTON STREET MURDERS.

The Military Inquiry, in lieu of an inquest, into the deaths of Cadet G. G. Warnes and Cadet L. G. Appleford, of the Auxiliary Division of the Royal Irish Constabulary, who were murdered in Grafton street, Dublin, on Friday evening last, was opened in King George V. Hospital yesterday. The proceedings were not open to the public.

FUNERAL OF POLICE VICTIMS.

The bodies of three members of the Crown forces were placed on the mail boat at Kingstown last night for England. They were accompanied by the band of the Royal Irish Constabulary and a guard of honour of the Auxiliary police and the Royal Irish Constabulary. The "Dead March" was played from the Kingstown Town Hall to the Carlisle Pier, where the "Last Post" was sounded.

He was ordained deacon in 1878, and priest in 1879, and first officiated in Derry. Nine years later he was appointed Incumbent of Borris-in-Ossory with Skeirke, Diocese of Ossory. ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH INDUSTRIES GUILD.

The Industries Guild, which did admirable work some years ago in Christ Church, Kingstown, under Dr. Paterson Smyth, was introduced into St. Bartholomew's Parish, Dublin, by Miss Lawlor. It is a Guild of Service to help the Church in its social and missionary activities, and, in a quiet way, has been responsible for help to Chota Nagpur Mission, the Church Army, the Women Workers' Settlement in Belfast, etc. The St. Bartholomew's branch has organised an open-air fête at Clyde road, to be held to-morrow afternoon and evening, for various worthy objects, including the Choir Commemoration Fund, the Society for the Propogation of the Gospel, the Home of Rest, Merrion, and for the paving of the Drill Yard of the Scouts and Guides. In addition to eight stalls (one a men's pound stall) there will be various amusements, concerts arranged by Miss Vera Wilkinson, an orchestra led by Miss Edith Alton, and the public are also promised midsummer teas and suppers.

In conection with the St. Bartholomew's Church Festival an organ recital was given on Sunday evening by Mr. Barry. The programme included:—Adagio and Allegro (John Stanley) (1742), Andantino Symphony No. 4 (Tchaikowsky), "The Curfew" (Horsman), Fantasia and Fugue in G minor (Bach). An organ and vocal recital was also given yesterday evening by Mr. Fred. Egan, with Mr. Kaye Shaw as soloist. Included in the programme was:—Grand Solemn March (Hy. Smart), Fugue, D Major (Bach); vocal solo, "Come unto Me" (Wm. Coenen), Adagio, Espressivo (Esposito-Barry); Dithyramb (Basil Harwood); vocal solo, "Be thou faithful unto death" (Mendelssohn); Prière (Boellmann); Overture to Jessonda (Spohr).

At Evensong to-day Canon Mervyn will give an address. On to-morrow morning there will be a Celebration of Holy Communion at 7.15 and 8 (sung).

UNREST ON THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

Reuter's Agency learns that, according to the latest official despatches from the North-West frontier of India, there are indications in the Wana area of Waziristan that the opposition of the Wana Wazirs is slackening, but that the Mahsuds are continuing offensive action. In the Tochi, Bannu, and [illegible] areas skirmishes have occurred.

PARLIAMENT.

THE INSURANCE BILL.

STRIKE VICTIMS AND THE BENEFIT.

In the House of Commons yesterday, the Unemployment Insurance Bill as amended in Standing Committee was considered on report.

Dr. Macnamara accepted a new clause moved by Mr. Mills, which was agreed to, providing that where it is held that an insured contributor has not fulfilled the statutory condition that he is capable of and available for work, but is unable to obtain suitable employment, the application of such an insured contributor for unemployment benefit shall, if he renews his application, be reviewed from time to time at the expiration of periods of not less than six weeks.

A COMPLICATED QUESTION.

Mr. Clynes moved a new clause providing that all workmen affected by a strike, except those who were on strike or men who were locked out, should be entitled to unemployment benefit. The Minister, he said, had expressed his assent to the principle if the employers and workmen could agree to a form of words carrying it out. The employers would not agree on any form, and, therefore, it was now the duty of the right hon. gentleman as the responsible Minister to find suitable language to meet what, he admitted, was a reasonable case. He was merely pleading the just cause of the innocent sufferers from an industrial dispute.

Dr. Macnamara said that this amendment raised an old question full of complications. The difficulty was to find a line of action which would not create difficulties greater than those which it was sought to relieve. The words suggested by Mr. Clynes could not possibly be accepted. Ever since he had anything to do with the matter he had said that if employers and workmen could agree on a form of words he would place no obstacle in the way of their being put in the Act, and he renewed that offer now. Members who said that the Minister ought to find words did not know his difficulties.

AN INDEFENSIBLE POSITION.

Lord Robert Cecil said that he thought that the Government would be well advised to try and meet this case. A person thrown out of work by a dispute in which he was not engaged should be treated on the same footing as any other person who became unemployed for reasons over which he had no control. The existing arrangement was indefensible. Dr. Macnamara had taken up the position that he would not meet the case unless employers and workmen could agree on a form of words to meet the grievance. That was a very improper line to take. (Labour cheers.) It was the business of Parliament and not the business of employers and workmen to legislate. (Hear, hear.) There was too much of a tendency to try and settle things outside in Downing street or elsewhere, and to present Parliament with a fait accompli. (Hear, hear.)

Sir G. Collins said that he calculated that if the number deriving unemployment benefit under the amendment was only one in ten that it would involve an increased payment this year of only £350,000.

A division was challenged, amid Labour cries of "Reply, reply."

The amendment was defeated by 144 to 104. The figures were received with loud Labour cries of "Oh," and a cry—"Now, do you see the Red light."

THE AMOUNT OF THE BENEFIT.

On Clause 1, Mr. J. Robertson proposed that the benefit payable should be 18s. and not 15s.

Mr. Myers seconded.

Dr. Macnamara said that the amendment had been debated fully in Committee. The financial scheme of the bill left him no alternative but to reject the amendment.

Mr. O'Grady maintained on economic grounds said the Government could afford to pay the higher sum.

The amendment was rejected by 141 to 77.

Mr. William Carter moved to omit Sub-Section 3 or Clause 3, which extends the waiting time from three days to one week. This, he said, would deprive the miners of any benefit under the fund to which they were obliged to contribute.

Dr. Macnamara resisted the amendment.

Mr. Clynes, replying to an appeal by Dr. Macnamara, to permit the third reading of the bill that evening, said that the Labour Party could do nothing that had any appearance of co-operating in the passage of the bill. The Government was reversing a settled policy.

The amendment was defeated by 146 to 68.

Mr. Sexton proposed that the sub-section should not apply to casual workers.

Mr. Clynes urged that a class of workers which was deserving of exceptional consideration were being severely penalised by reason of the hardships of their employment.

Mr. Wignall said that this was the most brutal and villainous clause ever introduced into an Act of Parliament.

The amendment was rejected by 156 to 85.

Sir F. Flannery moved an amendment to Clause 5 providing that the suspension of the power to prepare special insurance schemes should not apply in cases where application had been made to the Minister of Labour to approve of a complete scheme on or before 8th June, 1921.

Sir J. Hope seconded.

Dr. Macnamara said that he could not accept the amendment in view of the alterations that were being made in the financial arrangements in regard to unemployment insurance.

The amendment was rejected without a division.

The report stage was concluded, and the third reading was fixed for Tuesday.

Mr. Shortt informed Sir Donald Maclean that various Orders of a non-contentious character would be taken after the third reading of the Unemployment Insurance Bill to-day, and there would be further discussion on the proposed Estimates Committee.

The House rose at 11.7.

THE CORN PRODUCTION ACT.

Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen presented the Corn Production Act (Repeal) Bill, which is described as repealing the Corn Production Acts, 1917 to 1920, providing for payments under those Acts in respect of the crops of the current year and for agricultural development, and promoting the formation of Joint Conciliation Councils and Committees for the industry of agriculture.

The bill was formally read a first time.

IRISH QUESTIONS.

THE FATE OF MAJOR DE BERRY.

Answering Lieutenant-Colonel Archer Shee in the House of Commons yesterday, Sir Hamar Greenwood said that he regretted that no information had been received as to the fate or whereabouts of Major de Berry, who was kidnapped on June 21st, or of Constable Duckham who was kidnapped on the 22nd of June near Glendrohid Cross. Every effort was being made to trace these officers.

THE ATTACK ON KELLS POST OFFICE.

Answering Mr. Devlin, Sir Hamar Greenwood said that nine men were arrested between the 27th and 29th ult. for an attack on Kells Post-Office. They were now in Mountjoy Prison. Their cases are under investigation, and action will be taken as soon as possible.

CHURCH SCENE AT BALTENAGLERA.

Replying to Mr. T. P. O'Connor, who asked if at Baltenaglera Church, Co. Leitrim, on June 5th last the head of the police force in Leitrim dragged people off their knees in the middle of Mass and drove them outside the church, Sir Hamar Greenwood said that he was informed that a party of Crown forces surrounded the chapel during Mass on June 5th with a view to searching for wanted men after Mass was over. Directly that they arrived one man sitting just inside the door was seen to pass a bundle of papers to another, and he in turn was about to pass it to a woman when it was intercepted. The two men involved in this incident were touched on the shoulder, and requested to come outside, which they did. This was the only foundation for the allegation that people were dragged off their knees and driven out of the church. No other persons left their seats till the conclusion of the Service, which was in no way interrupted, and went on without a pause to its conclusion. The documents seized were of a seditious character, and were retained by the police.

THE SEIZURE OF MACHINE GUNS.

Mr. Harmsworth, replying to Sir Frederick Hall, said that some 500 machine guns, with a number of rifles and a quantity of ammunition, were seized by the New York Customs authorities on June 15th. There was every reason to believe that the articles seized were intended to be sent to Ireland, but as the whole matter was now under investigation by the United States Judicial authorities, a statement on the subject would be premature.

SEQUEL TO A BROKEN ENGAGEMENT.

SHOP MANAGER AWARDED £46 DAMAGES.

A Sheriff's Inquiry was held at the Courthouse, Green street, Dublin, yesterday by Dr. Lorcan Sherlock, Sub-Sheriff, and a jury, to assess damages in the case of Muldoon v. Murphy. The plaintiff, Thomas Muldoon, of Drumconrath, County Meath, sued Miss Mary Agnes Murphy to recover £46, money had and received for the use of the plaintiff, and some articles entrusted to the defendant for safe keeping. Mr. Lardner (instructed by Mr. E. J. Duffy) appeared for the plaintiff, and there was no appearance for the defendant.

Mr. Lardner stated that the plaintiff was a shop manager in the employment of Mr. McCabe, licensed vintner, 283 Richmond road, Fairview, and the defendant lived at 263 Richmond road. The parties became acquainted in 1917, and became engaged to be married, and during the engagement the money and articles, the return of which was now sued for, were given by the plaintiff to the defendant for safe keeping. The plaintiff gave evidence bearing out counsel's statement, and the jury awarded £46 damages.

EIGHT MORE DEAD.

The shooting took place within two hundred yards from the barracks and just outside the village. There were four men in the patrol.

KILLED COMING FROM MASS.

CONSTABLE'S DEATH IN COUNTY CORK.

A report issued by Dublin Castle yesterday states:—When returning from Divine Service at Kildorrery Roman Catholic Church, Cork, at ten o'clock yesterday, shots were fired at Sergeant Patrick Ryan and Constable Shanley a few yards from the church. Shanley fell mortally wounded, and while he was lying on the ground a number of shots were fired into his body. Sergeant Ryan escaped with a slight wound in the wrist.

Our Mitchelstown Correspondent states that as Constable T. Shanley and Sergeant Ryan were returning to their barracks from Mass on Sunday morning at Kildorrery, the constable was shot dead and the sergeant was slightly wounded by unknown men. The shooting took place about forty yards from the church gates. It caused consternation in the district, where Constable Shanley was very popular. Some years ago he was stationed at Mitchelstown, and was looked upon as of a kindly and inoffensive disposition. The fair advertised for Kildorrery yesterday was not held. Constable Shanley had about twelve years' service in the police.

SHOT FROM A SHOP.

CONSTABLE KILLED IN COUNTY SLIGO.

Constable Patrick Clarke, an official report states, while out walking alone on Sunday was shot dead at Creevykeel Cross, one mile north-east of Cliffoney, Co. Sligo, by a party of armed men concealed in a lock-up shop. His body was riddled with bullets and gunshot wounds.

Our Sligo Correspondent, telegraphing yesterday, says:—Last night Constable Patrick Clarke, stationed at Cliffoney, Co. Sligo, was shot dead by armed men. It appears that at about 8 p.m. the constable was walking along the public road about half a mile from the Constabulary barracks, in the townland of Creevykeel, to make some purchases of cigarettes, when he was fired at by a number of attackers from the cover of a house. His death was instantaneous. His body was found almost immediately afterwards by his comrades. Crown forces from Sligo were soon on the scene. Up to the time of telegraphing there is no information as to whether any arrests have been made. The deceased constable was unmarried, had been about nineteen years in the Force, and was stated to be popular in the district. He was a native of Mayo.

COUNTY MAYO AMBUSH.

ONE ATTACKER KILLED.

THREE I.R.A. OFFICERS CAPTURED.

The following report was issued from Dublin Castle yesterday:—Shortly before six o'clock yesterday a patrol of constables was ambushed by a party of armed men at Clydagh, in the Ballycastle district of County Mayo. The police took cover, and engaged the attackers with rifle fire. Five armed rebels, three of whom are officers in the I.R.A., were captured. One, who has been killed by police fire, has been identified as Thomas Nealon, Aughosse. The police captured a number of arms, a large quantity of ammunition, and a number of important documents. There were no casualties to the police.

Our Ballina Correspondent, telegraphing last night, says:—A young man named Thomas Nealon, of Clydagh, Ballycastle, was shot dead in an encounter with Crown forces in The Glen, a village a few miles from his home, in the early hours of yesterday morning. Nealon and a number of companions, who had been "on the run," arrived at about 2 a.m. at the house of a farmer, where, it is said, they had some food, but they had barely finished the meal when the house was surrounded by Crown forces. The men made a dash to escape, and ignored an order to halt. Nealon was shot dead. The other members of the party were captured. The owner of the house and his son were also arrested.

REFUSAL TO HALT.

CIVILIAN FOUND SHOT DEAD.

While guarding a vacant barrack at Roskean on Sunday, says an official report, the police patrol challenged a number of men, calling on them to halt. They refused, and fire was opened upon them. At noon the same day William Connolly, of Rossulky, was found dead in a house in the neighbourhood, his death having occurred as the result of wounds presumably inflicted when the men refused to halt, and were fired on earlier in the day.

PRISONER'S ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE.

WOMAN ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

While John Twomey, North Main street, Cork, was being removed from Cork bridewell to the military barracks, he attempted to escape and was fired at, wounded, and recaptured by the escort, who removed him to hospital. Mrs. Parnell, thirty years of age, who came into the line of fire, was shot dead.

EX-SOLDIER MURDERED.

SHOT BY MASKED MEN.

A Dublin Castle report yesterday stated:—Patrick Maher, aged forty, of Moontane, Borrisoleigh, County Tipperary, an ex-soldier, was taken from his home shortly after noon yesterday by armed and masked men, and his dead body was found half a mile from his home at a quarter past nine o'clock.

Our Templemore Correspondent writes:—The body of a young man named Maher was brought here yesterday by the military, and lies in the morgue at the military barracks awaiting a military inquiry in lieu of an inquest. It is stated that the body was found at Moankenare, Borrisoleigh, by people going to Mass on Sunday morning. Maher lived with his mother in a labourer's cottage, and it is reported that some men called at his house about 1 a.m. on Sunday, and asked his mother if her son was in, stating that they were strangers in the locality, and wanted Maher to show the way to Glenkeen Graveyard. On hearing this Maher at once accompanied the men. This was the last that his mother saw of him alive. It is stated that he was an ex-soldier, and of quiet disposition.

MILITARY ESCORT FIRED AT.

A MAN DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED.

Yesterday evening, as the train leaving Limerick for Charleville was about starting, some commotion was caused by firing. The train had military material on board, and Crown forces were in charge. After leaving the station the escort, it is officially stated, was fired at, and returned the fire. One man, John Crimmin, an ex-soldier, was dangerously wounded.

AMBUSH AT KILLENAULE.

SERGEANT SERIOUSLY WOUNDED.

FARMER'S SON SHOT BY RAIDERS.

Our Stewartstown Correspondent states that six armed and masked men called at the house of a farmer named Henry McGrath, at Maghermulkenny, Coalisland. The owner, on opening the door, was knocked down by two of the raiders. His shouts attracted his two sons, who ran out, and one of them struck a raider with a billhook. Others of the raiders set on him, and when his brother James was running to his rescue he was shot in the breast and shoulder with bullets. The raiders then ran out and drove away in a motor car. The injured man was removed to a Belfast hospital.

CHAUFFEUR WOUNDED.

Tinahely barrack, County Wicklow, was attacked yesterday morning, but without success. The roads in the vicinity of the barrack were obstructed, and telegraph wires cut.

Our Castlerea Correspondent states that on Saturday night Frenchpark barrack, which had been vacated, was attacked by raiders and burned. The courthouse was also burned. The new police barrack, which was about four hundred yards distant, was also fired at.

Our Downpatrick Correspondent writes:—The Castlewellan (Down) R.I.C. have discovered a Sinn Fein arsenal at Dundrine, near the spot where, on 3rd April, James Johnston was killed by the accidental discharge of Martini-Henri rifle that he was pulling out of a ditch. Hidden at the base of a triangular piece of ground, at an unfrequented spot, a stout wooden box, 8 feet long, was found. Covered with felt, and having at one end a sliding lid of steel, the box was lettered: "Sinn Fein, Castlewellan," in yellow letters, and there was the design of a skull and cross-bones. It contained 53 sticks of gelignite, a large box of cordite, 110 detonators, 90 feet of fuse, a haversack of miscellaneous ammunition, 75 sporting cartridges, 58 flat-nosed bullets, 20 explosive bullets, four well-oiled Martini-Henri rifles, and 330 rounds of ammunition to suit.

ORDERED TO LEAVE.

Our Clonmel Correspondent writes:—Following the shooting of three military officers near Fethard, two County Councillors and some others have been ordered to leave Fethard. Crown forces, it is alleged, smashed shop fronts and the windows in the Town Hall and in private houses.

ALLEGED ILL-TREATMENT OF EX-SOLDIER.

CO. KERRY CIVILIAN COURTMARTIALLED.

Before a Field General Courtmartial at Cork yesterday, Michael Dwyer, Seafield, Co. Kerry, pleaded guilty to having a length of time fuse in his possession. He pleaded not guilty to assaulting and inflicting grievous bodily harm on a civilian and to unlawfully imprisoning another.

A witness stated that on 11th June, 1921, accused and twenty-two others came to his house, and marched him a mile and a half to a field, where a sort of court was held. He was charged with joining the English Army, talking to police, giving information to police, and striking a Volunteer. He was ordered to undress, and men poured two bottles of tar over his body. They beat him with sticks.

The accused was present. He was then told to go home. Witness served nearly four years in the Army. He knew the accused, with whom he went to school.

Judgment was reserved.

THE "CURFEW" IN LIMERICK.

The disturbance in Limerick City on Saturday night has led to the area in which it occurred having the "Curfew" hours extended from 10 o'clock p.m. to 7 o'clock a.m. for a fortnight from last night. A proclamation to that effect, and defining the area, was issued yesterday evening.

ATTACK ON COUNTY WEXFORD BARRACKS.

At a military court in Waterford yesterday, Adam Jones, of Rosslare, Co. Wexford, was charged with levying war by participating in an armed attack on Rosslare Pier Police Barracks on 15th May, and with being in possession of one live shot gun cartridge.

Evidence showed that the accused when arrested was in bed at 6 a.m., that his clothes were then wet, muddy and saturated with salt water. It was also shown that the police barracks surmounts a cliff overlooking the beach about two and a half miles from the accused's residence.

Accused admitted that the cartridge was his, but in a subsequent statement said that he found it on the golf links, and forgot about it.

Numerous witnesses, including the accused's wife and brother-in-law, were examined to prove an alibi.

The accused was found not guilty of levying war. The finding on the second charge was reserved.

Accused was defended by Mr. John O'Byrne.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO BELFAST.

QUEEN'S APPRECIATION.

LETTER TO THE DUCHESS OF ABERCORN.

The Duchess of Abercorn, Baronscourt, Newtownstewart, County Tyrone, has received the following letter from Mr. Henry Verney, Private Secretary to Her Majesty the Queen:—

DEAR DUCHESS,—I am commanded by the Queen to express to you and your co-signatories Her Majesty's warm thanks for the loyal and cordial welcome extended to the Queen in the address which you handed to her in Belfast on behalf of the loyal women of Northern Ireland. The occasion of Their Majesties' visit will ever remain a day of unforgettable memories to the Queen, and the tokens of loyalty and affection so freely given to Their Majesties will always be treasured by her.

Will you please take an early opportunity of assuring all those women of the province who joined with you in the address to the Queen how deeply touched Her Majesty has been by your words, and by the enthusiastic greeting which they offered her on this happy occasion?

DRAPERY TRADE DISPUTE.

POSITION UNCHANGED.

WAGES QUESTION NOT INVOLVED.

Up to the present there has been no change in connection with the dispute in the Dublin drapery trade.

The following statement was issued yesterday afternoon by Mr. Robert J. Kidney, Secretary of the Merchant Drapers' Association:—"I regret that it is again necessary to contradict statements made by Mr. L. J. Duffy, of the Drapers' Assistants' Association, appearing in one of the morning papers. The number of houses that have endorsed the resolution, and have given notice to close down, is considerably more than fifteen or sixteen, as stated.

"Mr. Duffy further states that the real cause of the trouble was on one pretext or another with the ultimate object of reducing wages. This cannot be too strongly denied, as the question of wages has never entered into the dispute. In fact, negotiations were proceeding with the Drapers' Assistants' Association for a revision of the present wages scale, the agreement relating to which expired on 15th May last. Although this has nothing to do with the present trouble, it is necessary again to point out that his statement that the Merchant Drapers' Association suggested a drop of 33s. a week in wages is not true, as will be borne out by the following extract from a letter dated 15th inst., and addressed to the Assistants' Association:—'In dealing with the proposed decrease in wages in your memorandum, the actual figures are put in such a way as to mislead. For instance, you state that charge hands are to be reduced from 85s. to 62s. per week, and that in Grade A houses the wages of ledger clerks and charge hands are to be reduced by 33s. per week. This is a misrepresentation of the proposed reduction, which in no case will exceed 8s per week at present, and your assumption that no assistant with over eight years' experience will receive more than the eighth year rate is not correct. It does not follow that, because employers are not adopting a minimum rate in the future for their senior assistants with over eight years' experience, the eighth year represents the maximum rates.'

"I regret that it is necessary," Mr. Kidney adds, "to refer to this, as it has nothing to do with the present issue, which is a question as to whether assistants are to be free agents in joining any particular union or association; and, while the Merchant Drapers' Association have no objection to any member of their staffs joining the Drapers' Assistants' Association, they will not be parties to coercing them to join."

FAIR RENT COURTS.

MEETING OF TOWN TENANTS' LEAGUE.

The usual weekly meeting of the Town Tenants League was held in Dublin on Thursday evening last, Mr. William Field, and subsequently Mr. P. J. Carolin, presiding. There was a large attendance, and many important cases were dealt with. A report was submitted by Mr. James A. Meagher, LL.B., solicitor, dealing with the cases in which he had been instructed.

Mr. William Field said that it was obvious from the number and urgency of applications regarding rent raising, and the consequent question of repairs, that when the Rent Restrictions Act expired very many tenants would be injuriously affected unless this imperfect piece of legislation were supplanted by one more fitting to the needs of town dwellers. This proved the necessity of organised effort on the part of town tenants to secure their rights and to combat the extravagant demands made by many house-owners. The Town Tenants' League was desirous of effecting amicable settlements, but this was often difficult owing to the scarcity of accommodation and the resolute demands made on occupiers, most of whom complain regarding the bad condition of their holdings. The problem of healthy housing at reasonable rents was a serious one for the community. More houses were required, and "fair rent courts" should be established, as was already done in Australia. To secure this it would be necessary to focus public opinion on the matter, affecting, as it did, the progress and comfort of a majority of the working population.

Mr. P. J. Carolin said that the need of the moment was, as Mr. Field had said, the provision of suitable dwelling accommodation at reasonable rents for dwellers in urban centres. They had endeavoured, and not without success, to arrange fair rents as between landlord and tenant, but undoubtedly there should be some legal tribunal to which the question of the fixing of a fair rent could be referred without the incurring of heavy legal expenses.

COUNTY TIPPERARY CREAMERIES CLOSED.

The Cahir Co-operative Creamery was closed on Saturday in consequence, it is stated, of the destruction of military stores in a train. The Garryspillane Co-operative Creamery was also closed on Saturday owing, it is stated, to the destruction of bridges and trenches in the road in the locality.

IRISH ASSOCIATION FOR PREVENTION OF INTEMPERANCE.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Irish Association for the Prevention of Intemperance was held in the Boardroom, 4 Eustace street, Dublin, on Friday last. Mr. Joseph Mooney, J.P., was in the chair. There were also present:—Mrs. Maurice Dockrell, James Doyle, P. H. Grierson, R. Crawford Johnson, the Rev. J. J. Kennedy, and the Rev. T. W. O'Ryan, C.C.

The balance now due to the bankers was £[illegible] 6/11, or £31 5/11 less than last year. The subscriptions received during the month were £[illegible] 3/10, and cheques amounting to £[illegible] 11/10 were drawn.

The following bishops have accepted the invitation to become Vice-Presidents of the Association:—The Right Rev. Dr. Dowse, Bishop of Cork; the Most Rev. Dr. MacRory, Roman Catholic Bishop of Down; the Most Rev. Dr. O'Sullivan, Roman Catholic Bishop of Kerry; the Right Rev. Dr. Grierson, Bishop of Down; the Right Rev. Dr. Ross, Roman Catholic Bishop of Tuam, and the Right Rev. Dr. Day, Bishop of Ossory.

The Secretary addressed a large co-educational school near Winscombe, in Somerset, on the 10th May, on "Some Irish Temperance Workers," and attended and took part in the annual meeting of the Friends' Temperance Union in London on the 17th. He reported that during the month a large quantity of literature, including the annual report of the Association, had been disseminated.

A letter from Mr. W. E. Johnson, of America, refuting a statement which was given some publicity, was read. Mr. Johnson stated that there has been a decrease in the populations of Chicago city hospitals, county jail, and the municipal prison, particularly as to the Bridewell, one-half of which has been closed for lack of prisoners.

THE PARISH OF SANDFORD.

The Board of Nomination for the Parish of Sandford, Diocese of Dublin, met yesterday at the Diocesan Offices, 45 Kildare street, Dublin, when the Rev. W. N. W. Harvey, B.D., Curate of Zion Church, Rathgar, was nominated to the vacant Incumbency.

THE NORTHERN PARLIAMENT.

MR. DEVLIN AND THE COST OF OPENING.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, replying to Mr. Devlin, in the House of Commons yesterday, said that he did not know the exact cost to the State of the opening of the Northern Parliament of Ireland; but whatever the precise figure would be it was negligible compared with the beneficent results of the Royal visit.

Mr. Devlin—Will the right hon. gentleman answer my question? I asked him for figures.

Sir Hamar Greenwood—I endeavoured to answer the question. I cannot ascertain without an enormous amount of detailed labour, involving a great number of departments, the exact cost, and I do not think that I should be justified in going into this detailed work at the present time. The cost is negligible.

Mr. Devlin—Is this not another instance of squandermania—spending money on military and naval preparations?

MID-DOWN BY-ELECTION.

SIR JAMES CRAIG'S THANKS.

At a meeting of the Mid-Down Unionist Association a letter was received from Sir James Craig, which stated:—When the next meeting of the Executive is called together I will be glad if you will take the opportunity of conveying to one and all my everlasting gratitude for their influence and support. Since Mid-Down was first constituted a Division I have met with nothing but encouragement throughout. It is, indeed, a wrench to part, even indirectly, with old friends. Will you assure them, however, that in my position of Prime Minister of Northern Ireland I will endeavour to keep in close touch with all my old friends, and will certainly, to my dying day, remember the delight it gave me to represent the Unionists of Mid-Down in the Imperial Parliament.

COLONEL SHARMAN CRAWFORD, D.L., SELECTED.

At a meeting of the members of the Mid-Down Unionist Association, held at Belfast yesterday, the Right Hon. Colonel R. G. Sharman Crawford, D.L., was selected as Unionist candidate for the Imperial Parliamentary vacancy in Mid-Down, created by the retirement of the Right Hon. Sir James Craig, Bart., Prime Minister of Northern Ireland.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT IN BELFAST.

A regrettable accident occurred on the Antrim road, Belfast, yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Spiers, whose address is given as Collyer street, was knocked down by a motor cyclist. She was detained in the Mater Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull. Her condition is critical.

SCULLY DIVORCE SUIT.

For the third day Mrs. Isabel Burrell Scully was in the witness box yesterday in the Court of the President of the Divorce Division (Sir Henry Duke). She charges her husband, Mr. Thomas Augustus Scully, of Porchester terrace, London, W., an Irish landlord, who has also an estate in America, with cruelty and misconduct. Mrs. Scully denies both charges, but also pleads that if there was misconduct, it was condoned. This is denied by his wife.

Mrs. Scully was further cross-examined by Sir Ellis Hume Williams, K.C.

Sir Ellis—You remember the "Hugh" letter, which you never saw, and which your husband kept? It says: "A book of your choice would certainly be delicious reading." Had you promised to send a book to him?

Mrs. Scully—I may have done.

The letter goes on: "How this very naughty thumb of mine belies me. Really I know that I can never prove the contrary to you, because all that it infers it might have shown to you, darling one." What does that mean?

Mrs. Scully—I understand in palmistry that if your thumb is very flat on the palm side of the hand, it means that you are very fickle. I do not know whether that is what the word means. I expect I had told him in fun that he had a fickle nature.

The letter goes on: "But, then, you are one only, Tess, and there are not others." "One" and "others" are under-lined. "I think of you hourly in that sad country, very bored and lonely, and I am maddened to distraction when I think of these idle, heavy hours we might together mould into an earthly heaven. Is it possible for you to come to London whilst I am on leave? If so, do try. It will mean such a lot of happiness. Adieu, dear one. I embrace your vision, and feel very lonely. Your Hugh."

Mrs. Scully—I only saw him once after I met him on the boat.

Sir Ellis—And that sufficed for him to be Hugh to you, and you to be Tess dearest to him? Yes.

Had there been affectionate correspondence between you? Not on my side. To the time he went to France, in February, I hardly wrote him. When he had gone to France, I wrote him once in three weeks, and he about the same to me.

At Bude, did you have letters sent for you to the poste restante? Yes; all my friends used so to write.

AN ACCOMMODATION ADDRESS.

Mrs. Scully admitted that when her father was away, she had letters sent to a shop in Queen's road, Bayswater.

Later on Sir Ellis referred to the writer of the "Hugh" letter as Mr. Coughlan.

Mrs. Scully again denied her husband's personal imputations, and denied that when she was locked out in the rain in Ireland it was by accident. Her husband's different accounts of incidents were simply lies, she said. On the question of condonation, Mrs. Scully said that her husband swore to her that he had never committed adultery. They lived together, and went to Switzerland afterwards.

In re-examination Mrs. Scully said that she had never, until to-day, heard it suggested that her husband had confessed to her. She had letters addressed to her as Miss Taylor at a shop in Queen's road, because if her relatives and women friends had written to her at her own address, she would never have received their letters.

Sir Maurice Abbot Anderson, of Portland place, said that on the 9th March, 1912, Mrs. Scully, with a black eye, came to consult him at Harley street. She was on the verge of a nervous breakdown. On examining her last Friday, he found no sign of veronal taking, and no nervous symptoms.

The President—She had been in the witness box all day, from 10.30 to 4 o'clock.

Sir Maurice stated that if there had ever been a long course of veronal taking, as alleged by Mr. Scully, there would have been traces of it. The veronal in a prescription given to Mrs. Scully was only four grains. That would have no ill effect. Veronal never created a state of excitement.

The case was adjourned.

FIAT MOTOR WORKS RE-OPENED.

We are informed by Messrs. Henry Wayte, Ltd., Portobello, agents for the Fiat motors, that work in the factory in Turin, which had been closed for a month on account of a political movement, has been resumed. Those workers in the factory who were concerned with the Communist movement in Italy, and who engineered a revolutionary movement in the works, were defeated in the recent elections, and the mass of the employés volunteered to return on the terms laid down by the directors. The company denies a report that Herr Hugo Stinnes, a German financier, has any connection with the company, the capital of which is entirely in Italian hands.

LAW REPORTS.

DEATH SENTENCE ON CORK CIVILIAN.

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS GRANTED.

In the Chancery Division yesterday, before the Master of the Rolls, in the case of Patrick Higgins v. General Sir Cecil Frederick Nevil Macready, Lieutenant-General Sir E. P. Strickland, and the Attorney-General,

Mr. Hugh Kennedy, K.C., with whom were Mr. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. Costello (instructed by Mr. William J. Barry, Midleton), applied on behalf of the plaintiff, Mr. Patrick Higgins, farmer, of Ardra, Rostellan, Co. Cork, for a conditional order for a writ of habeas corpus. A writ had been issued on behalf of the plaintiff, claiming a declaration that the alleged military court which purported to try the plaintiff on the 21st and 22nd June at Victoria Barracks, Cork, was contrary to the laws and statutes of the realm, and expressly forbidden, and that military tribunals, or military law, could be established in the United Kingdom by Act of Parliament only; that the plaintiff was not subject to the so-called military or martial law, and that his alleged trial was contrary to the common law and the provisions of the Restoration of Order in Ireland Act, 1920, and other statutes; that the sentence of death which the alleged military court passed was null and void; that the existance (if there be such) of a state of war against the Crown in Ireland, was no valid ground for the Court refusing to make the declaration of right sought for, or to interfere in the matter by injunction or otherwise; and that the existence (if there be such) of such a state of war would not justify the passing of sentence of death on, or the execution of, persons tried by military courts assuming jurisdiction by reason of the existence, or alleged existence, of such a state of war, being contrary to the statutes and usages of the realm, and against public policy. The plaintiff also seeks an interlocutory injunction, pending the hearing of his claim for the declaration of right, to enable him to have the question of constitutional right finally decided by the ultimate tribunal (if necessary); and he further seeks relief by injunction, writ of habeas corpus, or otherwise, so as to prevent the defendants, or any of them, or any officer of the military or civil executive, from imperilling the life, or interfering with the liberty, of the plaintiff. In an affidavit by his solicitor it was stated that the prisoner was arrested on the 20th February, at Clonmult, Co. Cork, by military forces. He was tried for levying war, with Jeremiah O'Leary and other persons, by four military officers, on the 21st and 22nd June. Before that Court the prisoner declared that he was not a member of the I.R.A., though he had been a volunteer up to the year 1918, after which he ceased to be associated with all such activities. He was physically unfit for any such work. Owing to visits of military to his parents' house, and to ease his mother's mind, he resolved to sleep away from home. He was on his way to the house of his uncle, and his arrival at the house near Clonmult, where he was taken, simultaneously with the military, was purely accidental. He had no arms or ammunition of any kind. The military called upon the occupants to surrender, and he came out holding his hands up. He was taken into custody. There was some firing, and he was hit in the mouth. On the occasion of a visit paid by his mother to the plaintiff on the 23rd June, he showed her a document which had been served on him the previous evening. It stated that he had been sentenced to be shot, which sentence was subject to confirmation. In the County of Cork no state of war existed such as would justify the assembly of a tribunal such as purported to try and sentence the plaintiff to death. The ordinary civil and criminal courts were sitting regularly, and carrying out their ordinary functions. There was grave reason to fear that the plaintiff was in imminent peril of his life in that the sentence of death might be carried out at any moment and without further notice, unless the Court intervened to prevent it pending the trial of the action. Counsel made the application on the grounds that there was not a state of war which would justify trial by a military court, the civil courts being open at the time, and that in any case Parliament had provided a tribunal to deal with the present emergency in the Restoration of Order in Ireland Act. He further urged that even if a state of war existed the execution of prisoners of war was contrary to public policy, and contrary to the usages recognised by Great Britain in the Hague Conventions. Great Britain had declared that it was contrary to the usages of Great Britain to execute prisoners of war. That was embodied in the Hague Conventions.

The Master of the Rolls asked if this did not apply only to a war between one country and an alien country, and not to a case of rebellion.

Mr. Kennedy said it dealt with the inhabitants of countries at war.

The Master of the Rolls—That means inhabitants in alien countries.

Mr. Kennedy—I do not know that that is so. I think it recognises that certain principles are to govern civilised countries when carrying on operations of war.

The Master of the Rolls granted a conditional order for a writ of habeas corpus, directed to General Macready or General Strickland, and the Governor of the Detention Barracks, Cork.

CO. MEATH WILL CASE.—Before Mr. Justice Dodd and a city special jury, the probate suit brought by Kate Gaffney, Mrs. Lucy Foster (sisters), and James Webb, to prove the will of Thomas Gaffney, deceased, late of Ballivor, County Meath, came on for hearing. The will was dated February 20th, 1914, and the testator died on December 15th, 1920, leaving assets which were estimated at about £12,000. The testator, by his will, gave his wife, who was the defendant in this case, £1,000, and if she had issue she was to have the entire of his estate, which consisted of a public-house, two small farms adjoining the village, and a larger holding at Kilballivor. There was no issue, and the will provided that, with the exception of £1,000, the assets should go to the children of his sister, Mrs. Foster. Mrs. Gaffney contested the will on the usual statutory grounds, and there was an allegation of undue influence against Michael Foster, brother-in-law of the testator. Mr. F. C. O'Reilly, solicitor, formally proved the execution of the will, and, after other evidence had been given, and mention was made of a settlement, the jury found for the will. It was then stated in court that Mr. Foster, father of the beneficiaries, had agreed to give the widow a substantial sum of money and her costs, in addition to the £1,000 named in the will, and a motor car which had been the property of her husband. The allegation of undue influence against Mr. Foster was unreservedly withdrawn. Mr. Justice Dodd decreed probate. Mr. Denning, K.C.; Mr. Murphy, K.C., and Mr. Lardner (instructed by Mr. F. C. O'Reilly) appeared for the plaintiffs. Mr. Wood, K.C., and Mr. Geoghegan (instructed by Mr. J. J. Mackin) appeared for the defendant.

DRAPER'S ASSISTANT'S MONEY.—At Nisi Prius, before Mr. Justice Dodd and a city special jury, an action brought by Patrick Bartley against James Coyne, draper, of Crossmaglen, came on for hearing. The plaintiff, a draper's assistant, claimed the return of a Post Office Savings Bank book and a deposit receipt from the Belfast Banking Company for £650, which he alleged the defendant had taken from his trunk. He also claimed £30, balance of salary due to him while in the service of the defendant. The defendant denied the plaintiff's claim, and said that the Post Office book and the deposit receipt were documents of title to certain moneys of the defendant which the plaintiff fraudulently got into his possession and converted to his own use by depositing them in the Post Office and in the bank. The defendant counter-claimed for a declaration that the money, amounting to close on a thousand pounds, belonged to him. Mr. Justice Dodd—Briefly stated, the defence is that the plaintiff took the money from the till. It appeared that the plaintiff had been in the defendant's employment as draper's assistant from 1914 until the 25th September last at a salary of £25 a year and his board and lodging. He had in the Post Office Savings Bank £200 and £650 on deposit receipt in the Belfast Banking Company. The plaintiff said that the bulk of this money had been received from his sister, who was a nurse in the United States, and that she gathered it by buying British Treasury notes, which she was able to do to great advantage. In September last the defendant opened the plaintiff's trunk and seized possession of the pass book and deposit receipt, and asked the plaintiff to account for his having such large sums to his credit. The plaintiff, in his evidence, said that, in addition to the moneys which he received from time to time from his sister in America, he had a little cash of his own before he entered Mr. Coyne's employment, and that he made money by backing horses. As salesman at Mr. Coyne's he had not the handling of any cash, and the receipts during the day were squared up at night by Mr. Coyne himself. He sent his brother, Michael, who was working on his mother's farm of seven acres near Ballinrobe, suits of clothes and boots and neckties from time to time, and these were entered up against his account by Mr. Coyne. Miss Catherine Bartley, sister of the plaintiff, stated that she qualified as a nurse in the United States, and she occupied for a period of two or three years a responsible position in the American Red Cross service. Her pay was 90 dollars a month. She sent her brother, the plaintiff, money from time to time to keep for her, and some of that consisted of British Treasury notes, which she bought cheaply. She sent with each package of notes a letter, and these letters ought to have been in her brother's trunk. Mr. Serjeant Hanna, with whom were Mr. Swayne, K.C., and Mr. Lardner (instructed by Messrs. Corr and O'Connor), in opening the case for the defendant, said that the main issue was as to whether this money came from America or out of Mr. Coyne's till. The plaintiff had been dismissed for dishonesty. He had been in the defendant's employment for six years at a salary of £25 a year, which he never drew, and it was impossible that he could have saved or made this amount of money in that time. He tried to explain it by saying that he got the bulk of it from his sister and that he made the rest by "dealing." The hearing of the case had not concluded at the rising of the Court. Mr. Healy, K.C., Mr. Leonard, K.C., and Mr. Carson (instructed by Mr. F. J. Smith) appeared for the plaintiff.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE POSITION OF JURORS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Is it fair to expect grand jurors and jurors to attend Assizes at the present time? Surely existing conditions warrant some consideration of this matter. In martial law areas all criminal business is dealt with by court-martial, and there must be some way of handling the small amount of civil work other than having to summon hundreds of jurors at great risk to their lives and property.

What is the position of jurors who are summoned to attend forthcoming Assizes? The loyalists endeavour to attend. The chances are that they are kidnapped or ambushed in attempting to do so, or, failing that, they become marked men and their lives and property are doomed. Many Southern loyalists who could afford to do so have long since left the country. Of those that remain many, sooner than face the impossible position in which they are placed by the Irish Executive, will absent themselves and, with feelings of disgrace, will pay the fines inflicted upon them. The summoning of jurors, while the present state of affairs exists, will have the effect of expelling surviving loyalists from the country and of driving most of the moderates into the ranks of the Republicans.—Yours, etc.,

DRY WEATHER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Those of your readers who are interested in farming or gardening may welcome a few figures showing the actual degree of abnormality. The averages quoted for this district were computed by the British Rainfall Organisation, and the actual rainfalls given are the returns of my own gauge. The rainfall of January last was largely in excess of the average, while that of February was almost precisely the average. March had so excessive a rainfall—4.18 inches as against the average 2.50—as seriously to delay agricultural operations.

Such, then, was the position when with April started the remarkable drought which still continues. Thus April, with an average of 2.20, had an actual rainfall of only .72—namely, less than one-third. May, with an average of 2.10, had an actual rainfall of only 1.75—a considerable deficit. The serious shortage of rain in these two months left the soil in a very dry and thirsty condition by the end of May. Such was the position when the record drought of June set in. The average rainfall for June is 2.50—namely, over .8 per day—while the actual rainfall up to to-day (26th inst.) has been only .19, which is just one-eleventh of the average. May I refer those interested in the subject to the very informative letter from Major Chavasse which appeared in your issue of the 17th inst. for a reference to the rainfall in England and other particulars?—Yours, etc.,

A LONG WAIT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—May I enter a protest against the waste of time by the Dublin and South-Eastern Railway in collecting the Westland row tickets at Lansdowne road Station? On Sunday evening the 8.30 p.m. train from Bray was held up for exactly ten minutes and 25 seconds while two officials went round every compartment and collected the something like eleven hundred tickets. On an average every compartment contained twenty-four persons, with the result that, when the collector opened the door, three or four had to stand out on the platform before the official could get inside.

The result of this proceeding was that hundreds of people who, under normal conditions, would have had sufficient time to reach their residences before Curfew, had to rush home and thus spoil their day's outing.—Yours, etc.,

GAIETY THEATRE.

"ROMEO AND JULIET."

"Romeo and Juliet" was performed last night by the O'Mara Opera Company at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin. The beauty of Gounod's music wedded to Shakespeare's famous theme gives this work an everlasting claim to the affections of opera-goers. Last night's interpretation in no way diminished the claim. Occasionally a sense of ill-time was in the performance, but the playing and singing of the principals made one forget these minor defects.

Miss Florence Morden was an eminent success as Juliet. Her soprano, with its pleasing mezzo quality, and her temperament enabled her all times to render well this high-traditioned rôle. It is difficult to mention one scene more than another as exemplifying her powers.

The Romeo of Mr. Lyon Mackie, a sympathetic tenor, carried great merit in its performance. Notwithstanding that a little harshness creeps into it, he uses his voice with great art. His acting is splendid. Endowed with youth and a fine presence, he made an excellent impression in this production.

All the influence of Friar Laurence in this story was effectively borne by Mr. Joseph Griffin. His musical basso and his very movements embodied the suggestion of sympathy of reverend age for the young lovers. His most appealing singing was the address to Juliet after Romeo's departure.

Mr. John Olivere as Mercutio was next noteworthy in the cast, and Miss Enid Birkenhead (Stephano) sang happily enough in her brief part.

To-night—"La Bohème."

THE THEATRE ROYAL.

The Ten Loonies are once again entertaining their friends at the Theatre Royal. Their rollicking musical doings evoked the enthusiasm of the audience. There was a good deal of comedy work in their programme, but their fine artistic orchestral playing was a proof of their abilities. They were recalled again and again, and Mr. Harris, their leader, acknowledged his appreciation of the hearty reception given them. Eric Randolph, in the character of a strolling singer, pleased his hearers by his tuneful tenor voice, and especially by his rendering of "Old Pals." Miss Caprice Prood, a juvenile singer and dancer, presented an agreeable "turn." Dave Loch and Carrie Lomond are paying a return visit. Their "show" is, as usual, an interesting and amusing one, and they kept the audience in good humour while they held the stage. The Five Graftons are good vocalists and concerted singers, and they had their full share of the honours of the evening. Cyril Key and Jenny Keyworth, with the aid of the piano, gave a nice "turn"; and the Three Nitos gave an exhibition of comedy acrobat tumbling. The screen pictures of some of the Canadian lakes were also interesting.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED STEADY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, MONDAY.

Stocks opened firm. The strength of sterling exchange and continuation of short covering caused an early rise of 1 to 2 points, low-priced Railroads being conspicuous in the advance; but the market reacted owing to a drop in Mexican Oils on reports that the Mexican Oil Tax will be imposed. There was bear selling elsewhere on the belief that urgent covering had been completed, and Steels, Baldwin Locomotive, Oils, Motors, and Sugars yielded 1 to 5 points. The market closed heavy.

ST. LOUIS—Wheat weak, 10½c. lower; No. 2 red winter, 134.

MINNEAPOLIS—Wheat weak, 4½c. cheaper; No. 1 Northern spring, 144.

WINNIPEG—Wheat opened steady, ⅛c. to ⅜c. up, and closed firm, 2c. to 1½c. higher. July, 181½; October, 144½. Oats steady and unaltered; July, 48½.

CHICAGO, MONDAY.

WHEAT opened irregular, ⅝c. down to unchanged, and declined throughout the session on predictions of increased receipts, a disappointing export inquiry, commission house selling, favourable crop news from the Canadian North-West, larger interior receipts, lower outside markets, larger country offerings, more favourable weather, weaker cash markets, and liquidation. The close was easy, 2½c. to 2c. lower. Spot easy. No. 2 hard winter, spot, 142½; No. 3 hard winter, spot, nominal. July, 128½; September, 123¼.

CORN opened steady at ⅛c. advance on smaller country offerings and large seaboard clearances, but soon reacted, and declined under large receipts, favourable crop news, elevator interests selling, increasing stocks, a disappointing cash demand, liquidation, commission house selling, and slack outside inquiry. The market closed easy, 1½c. to 1⅝c. down. No. 2 mixed, spot, 61. July, 61⅞; September, 61⅞; December, 60½.

OATS easy at ⅜c. to 1½c. fall. July, 37½; September, 39½.

PROVISIONS opened easy, and values declined owing to the lower hog market, heavy receipts, moderate commission house selling, the weakness in grain, a poor outside demand, heavy stocks, and light liquidation. There was a partial rally later, but the market closed barely steady, with lard unchanged to 2½ up, pork unaltered, and ribs 2½ points down to unchanged. Lard—July, 10.15; September, 10.50; October, 10.62½. Pork—July, 17.80; September, 18.00. Ribs—July, 10.35; September, 10.65.

BACON barely steady, 12½ points down.

HOGS easy, with light 10 and heavy 15 to 10 points down.

NEW ISSUE.

NEW ZEALAND 6 PER CENT. LOAN FOR £5,000,000.

The Bank of England will receive on behalf of the Government of New Zealand subscriptions for £5,000,000 6 p.c. inscribed stock at the price of £96 per £100. The principal is repayable at par on the 1st August, 1951, but redemptions may begin at par on or after August 1, 1936, by means of the sinking fund provided under the Public Debt Extinction Act of 1910. The money is required for electric power purposes and railways improvement. The new stock is a trustee investment. In each year during the war the revenue and expenditure account of New Zealand showed a surplus, which was invested in gilt-edged securities held under the Reserve Fund Securities Act. The debt of New Zealand has been to the extent of 70 p.c. invested in good reproductive works, the present value of which is much greater than the amount of the borrowed moneys spent upon them. The dividends are payable on February and August 1, and all transfers and certificates will be free of stamp duty. The new stock is a gilt-edged investment of the best class, and should be quickly subscribed. Applications must be made for £100 stock or multiples thereof. The form attached to the prospectus should be used by our readers. The list of applications will close on or before Friday next. (Prospectus page 5.)

BRUSSELS EXHIBITION.

Messrs. John Thompson and Sons, Ltd., Donegall quay Mills, Belfast, have won distinctions at an exhibition of food preparations in Brussels, at which the leading food specialists of the world were exhibitors. For their "Thompson's Custard Powder" they obtained the Grand Prix and also a gold medal, while a second gold medal was awarded to their "Betzol Gravy Powder." In addition, their "Thompson's Corn Flour" secured the diploma of honour. These distinctions, it should be stated, supplement similar successes recently obtained at the Exhibition of Alimentation and Hygiene in Paris. All the preparations referred to enjoy the highest popularity in Ireland, where they are manufactured, and the judgment of Ireland in this respect is endorsed by the highest Continental experts.

THE STRIKE OF M.G.W.R. ENGINEERS.—The strike of fitters, smiths, boilermakers, electricians, and machinists employed by the Midland Great Western Railway Company continues without change. Some 250 members of the Irish Engineers' Union remain out, but a similar number belonging to the Associated Society of Engineers continue at work.

THE RESTRICTIONS ON STORE CATTLE.—At the Port of Dublin yesterday there were rumours of a modification of the existing restrictions affecting the shipment of store cattle from the Liffey, and their subsequent detention across Channel. Inquiries made at the portal veterinary offices of the Department of Agriculture showed that no official intimation of any change in the restrictions had been made up to yesterday evening.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Southern, who has been backed for important handicaps at various times, has broken down so badly that he may not run again.

The promoters of the Stock Exchange Derby Sweepstake have forwarded a donation of £200 to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution.

Lord Derby's Glorioso fell lame during a training spin at Paris on Saturday morning, and was not able to run in the Grand Prix on Sunday.

George Duller, the jockey, won the seventh light car short handicap at Brooklands motor races on Saturday, driving Captain Macklin's Silver Hawk.

In consequence of injuries received in the Paris Steeplechase Vesington Chief has had to be destroyed.

F. Bullock (36) now only holds a lead of two over S. Donoghue at the head of the winning jockeys in England, but the former's percentage (25.37) is much the better.

A cricket match, Jockeys v. Variety Artists, is to be played at the Oval later in the season for the benefit of Joe Plant, the light-weight jockey, who was badly injured in an accident at Kempton Park before the war.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. W. Peck, V.C., D.S.O., M.P., together with 21 Canadian competitors for Bisley, has arrived at Liverpool by the Canadian-Pacific liner Metagama. Among the party are Sergeant W. A. Hawkins, who won the King's Prize in 1913, and Private A. H. Caplin, winner of the Prince of Wales's Prize in 1904.

ACCIDENT ON SLIEVE DONARD.—A serious accident occurred on the Mourne Mountains on Sunday evening. A boy named Rice, who was acting as a guide to two Dublin visitors, was descending Slieve Donard, and fell over a cliff on to a rocky surface below, fracturing the base of his skull. Doctors Hamill and Monteith dressed his wounds near the scene of the mishap.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(OFFICIAL TELEGRAMS.)

NEWMARKET, MONDAY NIGHT.

The news of the untimely end of Humorist only became generally known at an advanced hour of the forenoon, and much sympathy with his popular sporting owner was expressed. This is the second Derby winner for Mr. J. B. Joel which has failed to stand training afterwards, Sunstar being the other.

The rain at headquarters has been altogether insufficient to appreciably improve the condition of the gallops, but the Bunbury Mile cannot be bad going. Large fields are not expected, but several of the events cannot fail to greatly interest to-morrow's visitors, notably the July Stakes and the Hare Park Handicap, especially if the first-mentioned attracts Pondoland, Lembach, Seraph colt, and Canterbury. I fancy them in the order written, and Pondoland should not be seriously troubled to score his third victory. My full selections are:—

Trial Plate—Avocet.
Hare Park Handicap—Manilardo or Mountaineer.
Maiden Stakes—Curiosa.
July Stakes—Pondoland.
Maiden Plate—Going Up.
Bottisham Stakes—Gask or Picardy.

The absence of rain will doubtless affect the strength of fields at Carlisle, which meeting opens to-morrow. For the chief item, the Cumberland Plate, the Richmond horse, Rock Drill, is expected to repeat last year's victory, while Cold Steel and Great Seal should run well. My vote goes to ROCK DRILL, who may have most to fear from Great Seal. My other selections are:—

Carlisle Plate—Cross Current.
Solway Handicap—Guisboro.
Trial Plate—Carholme.
Holm Hill Handicap—Theism.
Lowther Plate—Gallant Spear.

DEATH OF DERBY WINNER.

HUMORIST DIES SUDDENLY.

Humorist, the winner of the Derby and previously of three good races as a two-year-old, was found dead in his box yesterday morning at Newmarket. He was a remarkably consistent performer, and never failed to finish in the first three. By Polymelus out of Jest, Humorist was bred by Mr. J. B. Joel, in whose colours he scored such a sensational victory in the Derby four weeks ago.

LAWN TENNIS.

ALL-ENGLAND CHAMPIONSHIPS.

MAJOR KINGSCOTE DEFEATED.

The big match at Wimbledon yesterday, when the championships were resumed before a great crowd, and in delightful weather, was that which brought together Major Kingscote, the main hope of the British Isles, and the brilliant Spanish Davis Cup International, Manuel Alonso; and again the tide flowed against England. Kingscote is always a slow starter, and the Spaniard, playing brilliant, hard-hitting lawn tennis, captured the first five games, and won the first set with the loss of but one game. In the second set, Alonso again played brilliantly, to repeat his success. Kingscote was seen at his best in the third, which he won at 6-2, but Alonso made sure of the match by taking the fourth. After another demonstration of great skill, B. I. C. Norton, the South African, and F. T. Hunter, the American, survived the fifth round, and thus the semi-finals will be fought out by overseas players, the old country being left without a representative. We had some compensation in the Ladies' Championship. Miss Ryan defeated the American Lady Champion, Mrs. Mallory, after losing a love set by way of starting. Details:—

Men's Singles:—Fifth Round—M. Alonso beat Major A. Kingscote, 6-1, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2. F. T. Hunter beat C. Campbell, 6-2, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4. B. I. C. Norton beat H. G. Mayes, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Ladies' Singles:—Fourth Round—Miss Clayton beat Miss Shepherd, 6-3, 6-2. Mrs. Satterthwaite beat Miss Howkins, 6-1, 6-8, 6-1. Miss Ryan beat Mrs. Mallory, 0-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Men's Doubles:—Second Round—Diemer Kool and C. Van Lennep beat C. P. Dixon and Z. Shimidzu, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Ladies' Doubles:—Second Round—Mrs. Gracey and Miss E. Holman beat Mrs. Haughton and Mrs. Jackson, 6-3, 6-4.

Mixed Doubles:—Second Round—A. E. Beamish and Mrs. Larcombe beat T. Bevan and Mrs. Elliott, 6-1, 6-3. C. Ramaswami and Mrs. O'Neill beat Arnold Jones and Miss E. Sigourney, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5. P. M. Davson and Mrs. Lambert Chambers beat W. A. Ingram and Miss P. Ingram, 6-3, 6-4.

GLENAGEARY v. GROSVENOR.—Played on the former's ground, when the home team won by seven events to two. Results:—Singles—Coll beat Drapes—6-2, 6-3; Maunsell beat Webb—6-1, 5-2; Exshaw beat Broadberry—6-1, 6-4; Mitchell beat Armstrong—6-3, 6-4; Stokes beat Head—3-6, 6-4, 5-0 (retired); Pim beat Drought—8-6, 6-3. Doubles—Maunsell and Head beat Drapes and Broadberry—6-1, 6-3; Webb and Drought beat Coll and Mitchell—7-5, 5-7, 10-8; Exshaw and Pim beat Armstrong and Stokes—6-3, 5-7, 6-3.

GLENAGEARY II. v. R.S.P.U.—Played at Park avenue on Saturday, Glenageary winning by 9 matches to 0. Details:—F. Gick (G.) beat J. Kelly (R.)—7-5, 6-4; V. Price (G.) beat J. Jeffers (R.)—7-5, 3-6, 6-3; T. Booth (G.) beat H. Roe (R.)—6-3, 6-2; G. Foley (G.) beat G. W. Lawlor (R.)—6-2, 6-1; F. Homan (G.) beat J. Boylan (R.)—6-2, 9-7; H. Exshaw (G.) beat Tanham (R.)—6-1, 7-5. Price and Booth (G.) beat Kelly and Lawlor (R.)—6-3, 4-6, 6-0; Gick and Foley (G.) beat Jeffers and Tanham (R.)—6-2, 6-2; Homan and Exshaw (G.) beat Roe and Boylan (R.)—6-4, 4-6, 6-0.

BOXING.

THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

A Purse of 500,000 Dollars.

NEW YORK, MONDAY.

Tex Rickard, the promoter of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, announces that a special purse of half a million dollars is to be put up for the Heavy-weight Championship fight. Instead of each boxer receiving a percentage of the receipts, Dempsey will receive 300,000 dollars, win or lose, and Carpentier the remaining 200,000 dollars, win or lose.

INJUNCTION SOUGHT TO STOP FIGHT.

Mr. Clinton Howard, Secretary of the International Reform Bureau, announces that he will seek an injunction to-day to endeavour to stop the Carpentier-Dempsey fight, on the ground that a prize fight is not a boxing contest, such as the law of New Jersey permits, says an Atlantic City telegram, dated Monday.

THE MIDDLE-WEIGHT BELT.

Kid Lewis Defeats Bloomfield.

At the Holland Park Skating Rink last night Kid Lewis, the former feather-weight champion of England, welter-weight champion of America, and now the accredited holder of the European title at 10st. 7lb., met Jack Bloomfield, of Islington, in a contest over the full championship course for the middle-weight championship. Bloomfield holds no titles, and his claim to dispute the position held by Lewis was not apparent. The contest was uneventful. For nine rounds it was a scrambling, hugging, tame bout, with little clean, straight-forward boxing, but then Lewis got his man on the ropes and upper-cut him determinedly with both fists, and Bloomfield was being badly mauled when time saved him. Bloomfield made a good recovery, but had no punch to worry the old champion when he did land, and a tame and disappointing contest dragged on for the twenty rounds, when Lewis, always the cleverer and speedier boxer, beat the big man on points.

SCIENCE FINDS WAY TO MAKE HAIR GROW.

Millions of women, and men, too, for that matter, have been wondering why their hair was getting dull, dry, brittle, and falling out. Investigation has shown that in nearly every instance the trouble is due to the ravages of the dandruff germ—a little Bolshevist that takes a special delight in attacking and destroying the hair roots. Fortunately science has found a preparation which, if rubbed into the scalp twice a day, will not only destroy the dandruff germ, but will also promote a growth of new hair on the bald spots, and at the same time make the hair wonderfully soft, glossy, and luxuriant. This preparation, which is sold by all chemists, is known as Lavona Hair Tonic. It costs only 2/11 a bottle, and the beneficial effect is so certain that everyone who wants more hair, new hair, or longer, softer, and more beautiful hair should get some and begin its use at once.

PROSPECTUS.

NEW ZEALAND GOVERNMENT £6 p.c. INSCRIBED STOCK 1936-1951.

INTEREST PAYABLE HALF-YEARLY, AT THE BANK OF ENGLAND, ON THE 1st FEBRUARY AND 1st AUGUST.

ISSUE OF £5,000,000.

PRINCIPAL REPAYABLE AT PAR ON THE 1st AUGUST, 1951, THE GOVERNMENT OF NEW ZEALAND HAVING THE OPTION TO REDEEM THE STOCK AT PAR ON OR AFTER THE 1st AUGUST, 1936, ON GIVING THREE CALENDAR MONTHS' NOTICE.

Authorised to be raised under the Acts passed by the New Zealand Parliament intituled the Electric-Power Works Loan Act, 1919; the Finance Act, 1920 (Section 15), for Electric-Power Purposes; the Finance Act, 1921, the Railways Improvement Act, 1914, and the New Zealand Loans Act, 1908.

First dividend being a full six months' interest, payable 1st February.

PRICE OF ISSUE ...... £96 PER CENT.

Payable as follows:—

On Application	£5 p.c.
On Thursday, the 7th July, 1921	£31 p.c.
On Thursday, the 4th August, 1921	£30 p.c.
On Friday, the 2nd September, 1921	£30 p.c.
	£96 p.c.

The Government of New Zealand undertake to comply forthwith with the conditions prescribed by the Colonial Stock Act, 1900, as notified in the "London Gazette" of the 27th September, 1901, in order that trustees may invest in this stock under the powers of the Trustee Act, 1893, unless expressly forbidden in the instrument creating the trust.

Under the New Zealand Public Debt Extinction Act, 1910, it is provided that a sinking fund shall be created in respect of this and any future debt, and of the whole of the then existing New Zealand public loans that had not already got a sinking fund.

The Governor and Company of the Bank of England give notice that on behalf of the agents appointed for raising and managing loans under the above Acts they are authorised to receive applications for £5,000,000 New Zealand Government 6 Per Cent. Inscribed Stock, 1936-1951.

If not previously redeemed, the Stock will be paid off at par at the Bank of England on the 1st August, 1951, but the Government reserve to themselves the right to redeem the Stock at any time on or after the 1st August, 1936, on giving three calendar months' notice by public advertisement in the "London Gazette" and "The Times."

The New Zealand Ordinary Revenue and Expenditure account has shown a surplus in each year during the war, the accumulations to the 31st March, 1921, amounting to £23,730,000. Of the accumulated surpluses a sum of £1,200,000 has been used to increase to over £2,000,000 the gilt-edged securities held under the Reserve Fund Security Act.

The larger portion of the remaining surpluses has been, or is being, utilised under the Discharged Soldiers' Settlement Legislation for the settlement of discharged soldiers on the land and for financial assistance in the purchase of stock and erection of buildings. These investments are interest-bearing, and represent valuable assets of the Dominion. As they mature the proceeds can, if considered desirable, be made available for the reduction of the debt incurred in respect of the "European War," which amounted to £80,089,025 at 31st March, 1920, and for the redemption of which a sinking fund of 1 per cent. has been provided. Of this war debt £53,743,780 was raised in New Zealand and £26,340,243 in the United Kingdom. Of the whole New Zealand debt expenditure, £84,732,000 is directly interest-bearing, and is represented by assets the present value of which is much greater than the amount of the borrowed moneys spent upon them. The interest-producing proportion of the debt other than "European War" debt, is 70 per cent.

Approximately £3,000,000 of the proceeds of the Loan will be applied to the payment of contracts placed in the United Kingdom for the supply of rolling stock and material required for extension of the railways, for plant required in the development of additional electric power installations, and for equipment for other necessary public works.

By the Act 40 and 41 Vict. ch. 59, the revenues of the Dominion of New Zealand alone will be liable in respect of this Stock and the dividends thereon, and the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom and the Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury will not be directly or indirectly liable or responsible for the payment of the Stock or of the dividends thereon, or for any matter relating thereto.

FINANCIAL NEWS

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

FIRM BUT STAGNANT MARKETS. MARCONIS WANTED.

There was a further shrinkage in business done on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, and there was absolutely no feature. The Funds fluctuated, with movements pretty evenly balanced. Banks were drawn blank, beyond a transaction in a small lot of Bank of Ireland stock at last price. Breweries and Distilleries marked time, with Guinness Ord. the turn easier. City Steam was firm in a nominal market. Bidding at a 2s. advance for Marconi Wireless Ord. shares did not lead to any business. Home Railway Ord. were neglected, with sellers for choice. Pre-Ord issues, not often dealt in, were quoted in a few cases. Trams, Tyres, Gas, Bakery, Drapery, Trading, and Miscellaneous securities all failed to change hands. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were not quite so good as Friday's nominal figure of 10s. 9d. Coats shares alone changed hands in the Manufacturing group, and were the turn better. Tobacco and Oil shares were drawn blank.

The Funds were fairly busy. Consols rose 1/16 to 46; War Loan 5 per cent. ⅛ to 88⅛, and Irish Land 3 per cent. ⅛ to 51⅛; but War Loan 4 p.c. fell 1/16 to 96 5/16, and Victory Bonds ⅜ to 77⅛.

In Banks, Bank of Ireland repeated 193, and Munster and Leinsters were again called 5⅜ buyers.

Breweries and Distilleries were very quiet. Guinness Ord. fell 1/16 to 38 7/16, and Dublin Distillers Pref. repeated 91s. 3d.

City of Dublin Steam closed 117 to 120, against 118, the previous marking.

Marconi Wireless Ord. were bid up 2s. to 44s., but sellers were looking apparently for 45s. or more. The "Marine" shares realised 24s. 6d.

In Home Rails Midland Great Western 4½ p.c. Debs. rose 1 to 51, while Cork and Bandon West Cork and Kinsale 4 p.c. Pref. both fetched 32.

Among Manufacturing shares, Coats rose 3d. to 46s. 9d., while Gouldings closed nominally ⅛ lower at 5⅜, ⅝.

Wallace Bros. 6 p.c. £5 Pref. closed 4s. 6d. better at 52s. 6d. to 57s. 6d. nominally.

Dunlop Rubber Ord realised 10s. 6d. and the "New" Ord. 10s. 1½d.

STOCKS AND LOANS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The Stock Exchange, heard yesterday with somewhat mixed feelings of the progress of underwriting of a 6 p.c. loan of £5,000,000 for New Zealand, issued at 96 p.c. The loan is redeemable in 1936-51, and dividends will be payable in the months of February and August. At first the news caused a little temporary dulness in the investment market, but the effect quickly wore off, and Government and Corporation stocks both improved, closing at practically the best prices of the day. New Zealand credit stands high in the city, and House opinion generally leans to the idea that the loan will secure a favourable reception. Without taking into account the advantage to be gained on redemption, investors are offered a yield of 6¼ p.c. on the purchase price.

LONDON STOCKS QUIET, BUT CHEERFUL.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Stock Exchange the influence of the fall in the Bank rate is beginning to make itself felt, and there was a cheeriness about the tone of the markets yesterday which has been absent for some time. A genuine improvement took place in the Consols market. The 5 p.c. War Loan was again well to the front, and further rose to 88⅛. Consols, too, at 46⅛ were higher, though in both instances closing below the best. Victory Bonds and Funding Loan, at 77⅛ and 71⅛, respectively, were ⅛ lower, but Corporation stocks were in demand. Glasgow was firm at ⅞ prem., and Sheffield at ⅞ prem., while Tasmania and South Australia were ¼ and 1 discount, respectively. India 3½ p.c. were up to 56⅛, and several of the National War Bonds were better.

Among Foreign Government securities, a feature was the continued recovery in the Norwegian scrip, which was ⅝ discount only, compared with 1½ discount a week ago. Germans were weak; the Threes receded to 6⅛, the Fours to 6⅛, and the 3½ to 5⅝. French Fours and Fives were much the same as before at 33 and 42, while Mexicans were inactive but steady pending some news as to the payment of the coupon due on Friday.

Home Rails were very hopeful on the prospect of an end to the coal dispute, and the downward tendency of prices was stopped. Brighton "A" at 40 was still sticky, and so was Great Eastern at 27⅛.

"Canpacs" were 3 points up at 142. Trunks showed no particular movement, though the Ordinary was dull at 4⅛, and the third Pref. at 12⅛. Mexican Ord. was ½ down at 15½. "B.A.G.S." were fairly firm at 53, as were Westerns at the same level. Pacifics at 36 were steady.

INDUSTRIALS BETTER.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

In some quarters the volume of business transacted in the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday was regarded as disappointing. This was due to rather optimistic expectations based on the week-end political developments, combined with the reduction of the rate of deposit by the leading banks to 4 per cent. As a fact, the market opened fairly confident, and though the later proceedings failed to attain to much activity, there was a good general inquiry, and a considerably better appearance was displayed by the leading issues in most departments. Shortage of stock continues a factor in the situation, prices proving unduly sensitive to transactions either way. The results of the past year's trading had an unfavourable influence on Liptons, which finally closed 1s. lower at 17s. 6d. J. Lyons were slightly harder at 2⅛ ex bonus, and Maypoles were maintained at 7s. 3d. ex div. Spiers and Ponds were 16s. 9d., the report being favourably received. Textiles kept firm, the better tendency seen at the end of last week continuing. Few changes appeared on balance, however. Courtaulds, at 55s., showed a gain of 6d., but Calicos were dull at 15s. 9d. In Stores, Whiteleys hardened to 24s. 6d. Tobacco issues were harder, including B.A.T. at 3¼ ex div., and Imperials at 47s. 9d. Imperial of Canada further receded to 16s. ex div. Business in Breweries was small, but Barclay Perkins eased to 73s. 9d. on the Chairman's remarks regarding the conditions in the industry. Allsopp Pref. eased to 55. In the Nitrate list, New Tamarugals hardened to 1 1/16. Wireless issues were steady, with Marconis harder at 2⅛, and the Pref. unchanged at 2 1/16. In Cables, Western were harder at 16⅝, which was also the quotation for Globes, and represented a gain of ⅛, but Eastern at 163½ showed a decline. On the dividend of 12½ per cent., Eastwoods jumped 1s. 6d. to 15s. Cements enjoyed a further rise of 9d. to £1, British Portlands being maintained at 23s. Dunlop Rubber were changing hands at slightly advanced quotations, ending with a gain of 4½d. at 10s. 7½d. Other improvements among Miscellaneous included Salt Union at 12s. 6d., and British Glass 6d. better at 3s. 9d. Declines appeared here and there, Borax Def. easing to 1⅛, British and Argentine Meat losing the turn at 19s. 9d., and Union Cold Storage 6 per cent. Pref. easing to 16s. 9d. Oil Cakes closed without change at 27s., after being 27s. 3d.; and in Motors, Rolls Royce were not so good at £1. Humber, however, improved to ⅜. A. W. Gamage kept firm on the new issue at 21s. 9d. In Land Shares, Bays and Pahangs were firm spots at 6 1/16 and 6s. 6d. respectively. Elsewhere Deccans eased to 1 1/16, and Pekins lost 1s. at 12s. Reduced profits accounted for a slight falling off in J. and C. Field at 10s. The trend among Iron and Steels was upward, with a better feeling in evidence on anticipation of a coal settlement and the general attitude of Labour. Inquiries for Vickers and the tax-free Pref. resulted in gains of a few pence in each case, the quotations closing 13s. 6d. and 13s. 9d. respectively. Armstrongs at 17s. were another 3d. up, and Ebbw Vale at 16s. showed a gain of 4½d. Guest Keen were 30s., showing an improvement of 3d., and Baldwins were better at 19s. 3d., with the Debs. ruling a better market at 1½ discount. Country buying helped this section of the market. In Shipping securities, which were generally steady, Royal Mail Pref. were better at 72½. The upward tendency among Insurance securities was accentuated, North British and Mercantile putting on a point at 44, Employers hardening to 3⅜, and London and Lancashire Fire closing 11¼, or ¼ better. Prudential B were an exception, with the decline of 6d. to 8s. Lloyds Bank at 47s. were the turn easier. Elsewhere among Bank Shares, Standard of South Africa eased to 10¼.

MINING MARKET SMALL.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Expectations of a lively start in the new week were disappointed. It is true firmness characterised most departments of the House yesterday, but something more than this had been anticipated in view of the changed monetary conditions, and an expansion of investment demand was thought likely to influence the more speculative departments. So far as Mines were concerned, it can be said that anticipations were fulfilled, as the volume of public trading remained small, and professionals were not particularly enthusiastic. At the same time there was no selling by real holders, and as regards Kaffirs little incentive existed to encourage bear operations, and this despite a drop of 11d. to £5 9s. 6d. in the price of gold. The leading counters were not much in evidence, though prices, where they moved at all, were higher, but there was a disposition to pick up some of the lower-priced descriptions, and on balance the list presented a healthy appearance. Similar conditions prevailed in the Rhodesian department, except that Shamva were quite a strong spot on the report. Chartered hovered round about 11s. on the day, and Tanganyika and Zambesi Exploring kept very firm, while there were buyers of Gaika and Falcon. Closing prices:—

OIL SHARES GOOD IN TONE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Although only a small amount of business had accumulated over the week-end, and the orders received were mainly for the leading descriptions, the Oil Share market commenced the week in cheerful fashion, and a good tone was maintained throughout the day. Paris dealers alternately bought and sold their favourites, but the transactions were small, and had little influence upon quotations. Firmness in Royal Dutch was due to purchases on Amsterdam account. Burmahs, after being bid for at an advance, were finally unchanged, and the Anglo-Persian Pref. issues hardened, but British Burmahs and Indo-Burmas receded. Shells, Royal Dutch, and Mexican Eagles, although showing improvements on balance, left off below the best. A certain amount of selling followed the publication of the annual report of the Trinidad Central Oilfields. Although it was generally agreed that the position revealed was satisfactory, and some recovery occurred in the late dealings, the shares still showed a decline as a result of the day's business. As regards other Trinidad descriptions, a harder tendency was noticeable in Apex, Leaseholds, and United British. Among other favourites higher prices ruled for Anglo-American and Anglo-Egyptian "B." Gemsah Oil Reefs came into moderate demand, and moved up, it being understood that drilling operations have commenced at Gemsah. Russian issues had an improving tendency. In other directions Anglo-United moved down sharply on the proposal to issue £60,000 10 p.c. First Mortgage Convertible Debs., and Caltex were dull on the report. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARES FLAT, AFTER BETTER OPENING.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Rubber share market presented rather a better appearance at the opening, but difficulty was found in maintaining prices, and the result was that quotations soon shaded off. There was rather a disposition to await developments in the market in the hope that something good may turn up. Rubber Trusts were offered, falling to 10s. 9d., and Anglo-Dutch were only 22s. 9d. Malayalams at 5s. 3d. kept Friday's price, and so did United Serdangs at 2s. 7d. Kasintoe at 10s. were 1s. 3d. lower, while Malacca Ord. and Membakut were both 2s. 6d. lower at 32s. 6d. and 11s. 3d., respectively.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed June 23, 1921) ...... 6 p.c.

FALL IN THE PRICE OF GOLD.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Money market, so far as daily money was concerned, conditions remained easy, and balances were offered at the close down to 3½ per cent. Weekly money could be obtained at 5 per cent., but for accommodation just over the half-year 5½ per cent. was usually paid. A moderate business was done in loans and bills at the Bank. There was not a great deal of business in Treasuries, but those accustomed to deal at very fine rates quoted into July 5⅛ per cent.; whilst others called them 5 9/16 to 5⅝.

Bank Rate (Discount) changed June 23, 1921				6 %

The price of gold fell 11d. to 109s. 6d. per oz. fine. Bar silver was ⅛d. lower for both cash and forward delivery at 35⅛d. and 35d. per oz. respectively.

Among foreign exchanges, compared with Saturday, the New York rate at the close of public business was 3 cents in our favour, after touching 3.77⅝ as the best. Paris and Brussels cheques moved sympathetically, and showed net improvements in francs; while a sharp rally occurred in Italian lire, which were 2 to the pound better. Sweden was the only Scandinavian centre to move in our favour, but the Dutch and Spanish rates were higher.

After deducting general reserve (£60,000), the adverse balance for the year is given as £59,007. The report mentions that the trading in frozen and chilled meat for the year showed satisfactory results, but the clearing up of the large quantity of canned meats and canning stores on hand since the war showed a heavy loss. The Preference dividends payable at December 31, 1920, and June 30, 1921, are deferred.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

It is now being asked to what extent business in the Stock Exchange is likely to be advantaged by the change in the Bank rate. June has given a foretaste of the quietude, which is associated more especially with July, August, and September. There has been so little doing during the present month that many members have not only failed to pay their expenses, but have lost money on balance. To what extent this state of affairs is likely to be remedied by the Bank rate reduction is the point to be as cheerful as possible, the ordinary business man is inclined to keep to the cautious side in his estimates of possible business until the coal strike is settled. If the coal strike came to an end to-morrow, Tuesday (says the Westminster Gazette) its effects would undoubtedly be felt for many months to come. These will be reflected in the balance sheets of companies next year, as well as this. Consequently, the investor is likely to continue his policy of preferring fixed interest stocks and shares to ordinary share capital, having regard to the risks of dividend reductions in the case of the latter. In other words investment seems likely to remain the principal source of Stock Exchange income, and a revival in speculation cannot be expected to take place yet.

The first report of the directors of the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated, Ltd., has now been issued. The accounts, which are made up to 31st December last, show the issued capital to be £8,461,587 in £1 shares and £614,117 in 6 per cent. Debenture Stock. After paying Debenture interest and standing charges a debit balance of £47,822 is carried forward. Cash in hand amounts to £170,785, and a further sum of £721,649 is now being received from the Russo-Canadian Corporation, one of the consolidating companies. Strong representations have been made that the period of the option given to Debenture holders to subscribe for shares should be extended for a year, and to this the Board agrees, subject to the approval of the general meeting. The report gives a list of the principal Russian assets of the company, comprising twelve developed metal mines, coal mines, copper smelting plants, electrolytic refinery, lead and zinc plants, iron mines, blast furnaces, rolling mills, foundries, steel works, cyanide and gold mills, slimes and bullion refineries, coal crushing and coking plants, dynamite and sulphuric acid works, sawmills, 250 miles of railways, fleet of steamers and barges, etc. Some indication of the value of these assets is shown by the claim filed with the Foreign Office against the Soviet authorities for £56,000,000 based on the profit value of the proven ore reserves and the cost of plant, machinery, stocks, etc. Reference is made to the negotiations now taking place with regard to resumption of work on the Russian properties, and in regard to which further information will be given at the general meeting, to be held on 6th July. Recent information received from the Russian properties confirms the report that no material damage has been done.

The transfer books of the Wicklow (Town) 3¼ per cent. Redeemable Debenture Stock will be closed from 15th June to 1st July, inclusive.

Now a Bulgarian debt settlement has been made, the question arises as to the position of Montenegro's little loan of £239,000. No interest has been paid upon it since January, 1915. It is now understood that the new State of Jugo-Slavia will take over the liability and redeem the loan as soon as financial conditions permit.

The Shamva Mines are a good advertisement for Rhodesia. They broke their previous record last year by crushing 610,000 tons of ore and made £225,000 profit, against £178,000 the year before. Neither can the shareholders complain at receiving 6/- per share in dividends, against 4/6 the year before.

THIRD TEST MATCH.
ENGLISH PLAYERS SELECTED.
HON. L. H. TENNYSON APPOINTED CAPTAIN.

The Test Team Selection Committee have invited the following to play for England against Australia in the third Test match, starting at Leeds on Saturday:—

Hon. L. H. Tennyson (Hampshire), captain;
J. W. H. T. Douglas (Essex);
Hobbs (Surrey);
Hearne (Middlesex);
Woolley (Kent);
Mead (Hampshire); and
W. C. White (Somerset).

V. W. Jupp (Sussex) and Hallows (Lancashire) have been invited to be present.

The only surprise as far as the team has already been selected is the appointment of Mr. Tennyson as captain. Hobbs, Mead, and Mr. White are newcomers to the side. Both Hearne and Hobbs would have played in the previous Test matches but for being indisposed. Of the players who went to Australia last winter, only Colonel Douglas, Hobbs, Hearne, and Woolley remain.

PEMBROKE v. CLONGOWES VACATION.

Thanks chiefly to a fine stand by Chance and Murtagh in support of the last wicket, Clongowes, in the second match of their tour, succeeded in defeating Pembroke yesterday at Sydney parade, in a low-scoring match by one run. Batting first, the home side, who were weakly represented, after losing half their wickets for 42, were all out in a little over an hour for 66. McGonigal was their principal run-getter, as, going in first, he carried his bat for a capital 36, a contribution free from blemish, and including four 4's. Eardley bowled with remarkable success for Clongowes. Coming on when six wickets were down for 66, he secured the last four wickets in successive balls without a run being scored off him. The students started badly, losing three wickets for five runs. Half the side were out for 16, and nine wickets were down for 35. Chance and Murtagh, however, came to the rescue, and, adding 32 runs before the latter was run out, enabled the College to win the match. Chance played finely for 22, not out, while earlier in the innings A. Kelly batted well for 16. Hennessy bowled best for Pembroke, capturing six wickets for 16 runs. Score:—

LEINSTER SENIOR SCHOOLS' CUP FINAL.

MASONIC SCHOOL v. WESLEY COLLEGE.

There was a large attendance yesterday at Rathmines, when Masonic followed up their Junior Cup victory by defeating Wesley College by four wickets in the Senior Cup. The merit of the victory was enhanced owing to the fact that they had only three changes from the side that won the Junior Cup—viz., Jackson, Carlisle, and Menary. Wesley, batting first, started well, scoring 50 for two wickets, but then a collapse took place, and all were out for 59. Masonic, on the other hand, started badly, losing three wickets for 11 runs, but managed to get within six of their opponents' total. On going in a second time Wesley did better, Forsythe (30) and Jacobs (27) making a fine first wicket stand, but again a rot set in, and all were out for 84. Left with 91 to win, Masonic lost two wickets for 4, but Seymour (17) and Buchanan (17) improved matters, and the captain, Jackson, coming in at the critical period, played the best cricket of the match, and fairly won the game for his side with a splendid 39 not out, in which he hit 1 six, 5 fours, and 1 threes. For the winners Carlisle took nine wickets for 42, while Smith had eight for 62 for Wesley. Score:—

NOTTS v. AUSTRALIANS.

HOLLOW VICTORY OF THE AUSTRALIANS.

At Trent Bridge yesterday the Australians were seen to similar advantage in the field to what they showed with the bat on Saturday. They added 67 to their score for the three outstanding wickets, making it 675, the highest score of the tour, which they amassed in five hours and three-quarters. Hendry and Oldfield extended their eighth wicket partnership to 87 in just over an hour before the latter was bowled. Hendry was batting eighty minutes. Oates damaged his thumb so badly in stopping a hard return that he was unable to take any further part in the day's play. Notts gave a depressing exhibition with the bat, for which there was no excuse, as the pitch remained in perfect condition, and were dismissed in an hour and thirty-five minutes for 58, which is the lowest score against the Australians during the present tour, being ten worse than Northants 68 last week. Three wickets were down for seven runs when Hardstaff and Carr became associated. They added 23, and later Whysall made a few capital strokes on the leg side, but, generally speaking, the batting was sadly lacking in both confidence and resource. Notts followed on 617 runs in arrear. George Gunn and Lee opened in better style than previously, but at 12 Lee was run out by a fine piece of work by Taylor. In the next hour and although George Gunn continued to show good cricket he saw seven wickets fall for 43. Carr subsequently hit freely, and, taking plenty of risks, was missed in the long field by Taylor off Mailey before the captain left, being by Taylor off Mailey in forty minutes, but after the captain left nobody else could do anything, and the side was disposed of in two hours and ten minutes for exactly 100. The Australians thus won in the hollowest fashion by an innings, with 517 runs to spare. Score:—

YORKSHIRE v. SURREY.

ESSEX v. NORTHANTS.

The Midlanders were engaged yesterday at Leyton in fighting an uphill battle, Essex having occupied the wickets the whole of Saturday scoring 455 for the loss of five batsmen. The latter continued batting yesterday until ten minutes to one o'clock, adding 80 for the loss of four further wickets, before Douglas applied the closure. Dixon (39) was out to an exceptionally good return catch by Thomas, and the only other feature was a useful contribution by Carter, who batted 65 minutes for 44 not out. The home innings occupied six hours and 40 minutes. In 20 minutes before lunch Northants registered 16 without loss, but on resuming fared so badly that five were out for 69. Nine were down for 155, but the last wicket put on 43, and Thompson was able to carry his bat for a capital 56. The Midlanders followed on at 5.40, it being arranged to continue play until 7 o'clock. KENT v. LEICESTER.

At Gravesend yesterday Kent continued their innings, having five wickets to fall, but the remaining men only added 51. With a deficit of 146, Leicester made a good start, Astill (36) and Mounteney (27) putting on 59 in about thirty minutes. After that only Middleton (29) and Gimson (40) offered any serious resistance to the bowling of Woolley and Freeman. At lunch the score stood at 127 for three wickets. Afterwards the remaining seven wickets could only muster 46 runs. The innings closed for 173. Considering the promising start, it was a very disappointing display. Woolley had the best analysis, his five wickets costing only 47 runs, while Freeman took four for 96. Requiring 28 for victory, Kent lost Ashdown at one, Fairservice at 11, and Collins at 16; then the runs were hit off, and a seven wickets' victory secured. Score:—

Leicestershire	134	173
Kent	280	29 (3 wkts.)

WARWICKSHIRE v. SOMERSET.

At Edgbaston, owing to rain, only a couple of overs were bowled before luncheon. Continuing their first innings, in which 73 had been scored on Saturday for the loss of one wicket Somerset got the mastery of the bowling, and passed the Warwickshire total with only three wickets down. Johnson (84) and Considine (21) added 66 for the second wicket in an hour. Johnson found another useful partner in Lowry (50), the pair putting on 47 in eighty minutes. Lowry and Wharton (86) ran the total to 198, and Wharton and Hope (56) put on 117 for the seventh wicket in 65 minutes. Score:—

Warwickshire	197
Somersetshire	365 (8 wkts.)

SUSSEX v. HAMPSHIRE.

The feature of yesterday's cricket at Horsham was a brilliant innings of 142 by Tate for Sussex. When the game was resumed, in dull weather, Sussex were 236 behind, with seven wickets in hand. Wilson (58) and Cox (22) took the score to 95, and Cox and Bowley (56) batted with freedom, the pair adding 97 in 45 minutes. With Tate (142) and Relf (35) together, some remarkable cricket was seen after lunch. Tate played the innings of his life, driving and cutting with refreshing vigour, while he also made several fine pulls. In half an hour 85 were scored, and he and Relf raised the total from 200 to 300 in forty minutes. Everything came alike to Tate, who was only at the wickets for an hour and fifty minutes. At one period he scored 43 in thirteen minutes, and while 92 were being added in forty minutes, Relf's share was a modest 9. Score:—

LEVESON-GOWER'S XI. v. OXFORD UNIVERSITY.

At Eastbourne yesterday Oxford occupied the wickets all day, scoring 644 for 8. W. L. Lowndes played a remarkably fine innings of 216, and H. P. Ward scored 105. Hedges contributed 68, and another century was that compiled by R. H. Bettington, who collected 105. Score:—

Oxford University	644 (8 wkts.)
Leveson-Gower's XI.

LANCASHIRE v. MIDDLESEX.

The match for Heap's benefit at Old Trafford, between Lancashire and Middlesex has so far clearly proved the superiority of the champion county over their opponents. Yesterday the superiority was most marked, and, although not enforcing the follow-on, the metropolitan side set their rivals the enormous task of scoring 455 in a fourth innings for victory. Lancashire had fifty minutes' batting before the close, scoring 32 without loss, which leaves them 431 behind. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Middlesex	309	256
Lancashire	111	32 (no wkt.)

M.C.C. v. CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY.

The Marylebone Club paid a heavy penalty for playing a weak team in the field against the full strength of Cambridge University at Lord's yesterday. The home side did not include a single regular first-class cricketer, and their excuse is that there were nine other matches proceeding, with the Gentlemen v. Players, to commence at the Oval to-morrow. Batting first under favourable conditions, the Club collected 104 in two hours, Titchmarsh making the highest of the four double figures (33). Taken generally, the Club batting proved of an indifferent class against some excellent bowling. Bryan (95) and Fiddian Green (18) put on 65 for the first Cambridge wicket in fifty minutes, and then Bryan and Ashton (40) added 85 runs in less than an hour. Subsequently H. Ashton (46) and Chapman (47) knocked up 59 runs together in forty minutes. Score:—

M.C.C.	104
Cambridge University	285 (5 wkts.)

YACHTING.

CLYDE FORTNIGHT.

The third day of the Clyde Fortnight Regatta was, in point of sailing weather, worse even than those that preceded. A cold and windy Sunday was followed by a speckless dawn, and the early airs from East and South had all but disappeared before the sun, when the signals were up on the Royal Northern Flagship in Rothesay Bay. There was no racing of importance, the day being consumed in drifting for the greater part over the course. The programme was similar to that of Saturday, and the number of yachts engaged over 50, representative of eleven classes. Details:—

Handicap for yachts over 50 tons T.M. Course—40½ miles. Start at 11 a.m.

	h.	m.	s.
Britannia (H.M. the King)—Scratch
Terpsichore (R. H. Lee)	5	21
Nyria (Mrs. Workman)	4	44
Vida VI. (W. P. Wood)	3	3	26
The Lady Anne (J. M. Robertson)	3	33	54
The finish was—	45	34
The Lady Anne (winner)	5	3	25
Terpsichore (2nd prize)	5	23	30
Britannia (3rd prize)	5	25	10
Nyria	5	43	51
Vida	5	45	15

A third of the course only was sailed, and several of the matches were very late in finishing. The winners in their classes were—Flya, Susetta, Rolina, Moyola, and Mala.

CLONTARF Y. and B.C.—The fifth match, sailed in a light S.E. breeze on Saturday, brought out seven starters, reduced shortly to half a dozen through Hawk, burying her big mainsail. Sunbeam drew away from Miss Michael and Lady Olave, the last-named sailing very well, indeed. At the mark the leaders and valuable seconds in the order named, but on sailing up sharply to cross Sunbeam (Mr. N. Bennett) proved the winner, Lady Olave (Mr. L. Lockhart) taking second prize, and Miss Michael (Mr. W. J. Rickard) and Ranger (Mr. G. Porter) tied for third prize.

Mr. S. Kyle was officer of the day.

THE BURBERRY.

A freedom-giving, lissom, perfect weather-proof, remarkably light, a shade for coolness, yet possessing wonderful naturally protecting warmth—that is THE BURBERRY with its dominating air of distinction, so fitting in a Top-coat to wear whenever sport, travel and social occasions make their call. There, then and always the indispensable is THE BURBERRY

Burberrys are disposing of a certain number of their famous weatherproofs AT FIVE GUINEAS made from cloths ordered in the latter part of the War (before the great rise in costs) to replace their standard make, had their own mills failed to keep up necessary supplies.

THE 5-GN. BURBERRY conforms to the 6½-Gn. Burberry (the regular price to-day) with one exception, the materials are PIECE-PROOFED, NOT YARN-PROOFED. This, therefore, accounts for such an EXCEPTIONAL BARGAIN

MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE.

LONDON, Monday.—Larger supply of fat cattle, 254 being on offer, about 100 of which were grass-fed and the remainder Norfolk box-fed. Quality on the whole was fairly good. Trade was very slow, prices in some cases showing a fall of 2d. per 8lbs. stone on the week. First quality shorthorns averaged 10/6, second quality 10/-; first quality Herefords 10/8, and second 10/- per 8lb. stone. Smaller supply of fat sheep, 1,822 being shown, the majority being grass-fed from the Midland counties, with a few lots from Hampshire. Trade was very slow, but last week's prices were in most cases maintained, first quality Downs averaging 19d., second quality 16d., third 13d.; crossbreds, first 18d., and second 15d. per lb. Much lighter supply of fat lambs, the smaller sorts being in more demand at 23d. per lb., while the larger animals were firm at 19d. per lb.

GLASGOW, Monday.—Hegarty and Kelly report smaller show of Irish cattle at Merklands wharf to-day. Trade for all classes was firmer at slight increase in prices. Sheep and lambs were an average show. A firm demand was met for good lambs. Secondary sorts not wanted, and less money had to be taken to effect a clearance.—(Advt.)

BIRKENHEAD, Monday.—Cattle met a very slow trade at the Birkenhead lairages to-day. Best bullocks and heifers made up to 15d. per lb.; secondary qualities were very difficult to move, and there was no trade whatever for bulls and cows. Owing to the shorter supply of lambs, trade was slightly firmer, a few choice lots making 21d., the general quotation being about 20d. per lb. sinking offal. Sheep trade was bad. Supplies—800 cattle and 4,800 sheep and lambs. At the dressed beef section, trade was also slow. Irish sides made from 13d. to 14d., and American sides 13½d. to 14d. for the best.

HULL, Monday.—Only moderate entries. Trade slow. 547 fat cattle, 40 stores; 2,132 fat sheep, 290 stores; 260 pigs. Best beef 20/-; secondary 18/- to 19/-, cows 17/- to 18/-; small sheep 1/6 to 1/8, hoggs 1/4, ewes 1/-, and lambs 1/10 per lb. Little pigs 18/-.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN ARMS FIND.

COURTMARTIAL AT KILMAINHAM

Michael C. Stevens, 5 Grove Park avenue, Dublin, was charged at a courtmartial in Kilmainham Courthouse yesterday with having in his possession on the 2nd inst. an automatic pistol, six rounds of ammunition, and a bomb. He pleaded not guilty.

The Prosecutor said that on the 2nd inst. a party of police was searching a house in Great Strand street, Dublin. The tender containing the Auxiliary police drove up to the house, and one of the policemen rushed into No. 17, while some went into No. 18. The policeman who went into No. 17 saw a man who had a coat in his hand. This man ran towards the door, and on being "held up" he threw the coat away. He was caught. The room was then searched, and a witness would prove that a bomb was found. This bomb was of the type used by the rebels, and was fully charged, but had no pin. Upstairs in one of the rooms a witness found an automatic pistol of German make, and on a window sill in the same room he found a magazine which fitted the pistol, and which contained a number of rounds of ammunition. A witness would state that this house had been previously rented by his son, and that he used to visit it regularly until some time in April. On one occasion in April he found some men in the room. The witness would tell the court that he succeeded in getting the men out, but that he was afterwards held up in the street by men, who he thought were armed, and who insisted on him handing over the keys of the house. Since then he had not used the premises. At the time that he was in possession of the house there were no bombs, revolvers, or ammunition in the place.

AN AFTERNOON RAID.

A member of the Auxiliary police gave evidence in corroboration of prosecutor's statement. He said that the raid on the premises in Strand street took place at 3.15 p.m. on June 2nd. On approaching he saw someone peeping through the door of No. 17. Witness entered and saw the accused half-way across the store running, and as he ran he threw a coat away. He did not halt until he got to the door at the other side. Witness arrested him. Witness also deposed to the finding of the articles mentioned in the charge.

Evidence to the same effect was given by another police witness, who had charge of the raiding party. In No. 17 when he got in there was a prisoner. He saw a bomb on the window sill. There was no detonator in it. He found upstairs under the floor an automatic pistol. A magazine from an automatic was also found. Witness saw accused, and asked him why he was on the premises, and he said that he was there to fit on a coat. Witness told him what had been found, and he said that he knew nothing about it.

The third witness said that he had a son who rented the premises 17 Great Strand street, which were used as a furniture store. On the 6th April last it came to his knowledge that there were some men on the premises, and he found on going to the house that it had been occupied. Witness went up and saw a number of men, who demanded the keys, and he refused to give the keys. Some time afterwards he met some of the same men in the street and they again demanded the keys. Eventually, as the result of threats, he had to give them the keys. Up to the time that he was forced to hand over the keys there were no arms, bombs, or ammunition in the place.

In reply to the accused the witness said that the men who got into the house had a false key. Witness closed the door and took the false key out. He was compelled to hand over his own key and the false key to them.

THE DEFENCE.

The case for the prosecution having closed, The accused made a statement, in the course of which he said that he was a tailor and he was arrested on an occasion when he was on his business. He had met a school chum frequently, and had asked him if he could get him some business. His friend said he could give him some business himself, and said he had a suiting of Irish tweed to be made up, but he was not at the moment in a position to settle financially. He (accused) was willing to do the work, and on receipt of a postcard went to Great Strand street to meet his friend at his furniture store. He went there on Wednesday, 1st, and knocked, but could get no answer. The following day he went again and knocked. A young fellow came out and told him that the person he was looking for might be in any minute. He then waited at the door, and while waiting was arrested. He handed in to the Court the postcard he had received making the appointment.

The Court reserved judgment.

CHARGE OF CARRYING ARMS.

At a Courtmartial held yesterday at the North Dublin Union Daniel [illegible], Dominick street, Dublin, was charged with having a revolver in his possession. Evidence was given showing that the revolver, which was unloaded, was found on the prisoner when he was searched by a military patrol in Upper Dorset street on the 9th June.

The prisoner said that he had been driving cows to Sandymount, and on his way had found the revolver in a field. He was on his way to the police, as he knew it was best to give it up. A brother of the prisoner stated that he had tried several times to get him into the service, but he was refused several times owing to bad teeth.

The Court closed.

A second Courtmartial to hear charges against a civilian was, on the application of the Prosecutor, held in the absence of the Press.

A TRAGIC JOKE.

A tragic accident happened at Oud Capelle Nord, when an old farm labourer, known as "Father Schapmann," was killed by a rifle bullet (says a Paris telegram). Three youths returning from a rifle competition in a gay mood came across the old man, and, by way of a joke, pretended that they were officers of a courtmartial and condemned the old man to death. The old labourer made no objections to playing his part in the game, and when he was sentenced to death took his stand with his back to a mechanical piano. Three shots rang out, and the old man fell killed, with a bullet through his head. One of the jokers had omitted to unload his rifle. The three youths have been arrested.

SUBMARINE SINKS.

A signalman on watch aboard Submarine K 15 in Portsmouth Dockyard, noticing that she was settling down by the bows, gave the alarm, and an officer and five men sleeping aboard got safely clear. The boat went down. The mishap was accidental, and a salvage party are trying to ascertain the cause.
